Prison Riot Smashed By Gas Barrage

Hostages Crawl To Safety In 16-Hour Missouri Uprising

"That gas sure did the trick," said Leonard Appleby, 55.

For 19 years Appleby has been a guard at the big U.S. prison hospital, where 60 per cent of the 1,000 prisoners are insane criminals.

Monday night at 9:55 o'clock, Appleby was sitting in a small office censoring the prisoners' mail.

"Earl Taylor (a prisoner) charged in with a knife in his hand," Appleby said. "Before I could realize what was up he had that knife under my throat.

In the next few minutes, Taylor and 105 other prisoners in the "10 North" section of the hospital took Appleby and four other guards as hostages.

"All was pretty quiet," Appleby said. "The inmates tore open offices and medical chests and loaded up on tranquilizers and phenobarbitol — that is, all except the leaders. They did not settle down."

The riot leaders were identified as Taylor, 31, serving 9 years for violating the federal firearms act, assault, escape and theft; Carl Roberts, 19, serving 4½ years for car theft, and Bryan D. Reed, 24, a military prisoner serving life for murder.

"We didn't really get scared until after Warden (Russell O.) Settle came over and talked to the men. He asked them what they wanted and no one knew. Taylor had no plan at all. The whole thing was senseless. He never had any real terms.

"They just set out to stretch out the thing as long as they could. It made no difference to them if anybody survived."

The 106 prisoners in the three buildings of the "10 North" unit include homosexuals and "aggressive personalities."

They tore up furniture, medical cabinets and anything they could put their hands on to form barricades.

Warden Settle, Warden S. Chet Taylor from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Myrl E. Alexander, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons from Washington, and Noah Alldredge, captain of guards at the hospital, worked out a plan of attack.

They decided, in Alldredge's words, that the hostages "were expendable." In addition to Appleby, they were guards Robert B. Rosendahl, 38; William L. Fitch, 45; Charles R. Allen, 48; and Melvin C. Jung, 57.

Airliner Carrying 107 Delayed In Bomb Scare

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A New York-bound jet airliner with 107 passengers aboard was forced to return to Los Angeles International Airport Tuesday night because of a bomb scare.

A ticket agent said a woman phoned moments after the liner took off and warned him that her husband had placed an incendiary bomb "in the body of the plane." The TWA jet was ordered back to the field. Nothing was found.

Resort Blaze Being Linked To Cigarette

Guide Questioned; 22 Of Fire Victims May Be Americans

STALHEIM, Norway (AP)—The careless smoking of a Norwegian guide today was suspected of causing the Stalheim resort hotel fire in which 25 vacationers are dead or believed missing.

It is believed 22 of the victims were Americans.

The guide was questioned through most of the night by police at nearby Voss. A police spokesman refused to give his name but said there is reason to believe he may have caused the fire through carelessness in cigarette smoking.

After questioning, the guide was released but was told to keep the police informed of his whereabouts. "Negligence is only a misdemeanor, so there was no basis for holding him," the police spokesman said.

Investigators did not discount the possibility some of the missing may still be found alive. Many of the hotel's 147 guests —130 of them Americans—scattered in the confused hours after the fire leveled the stately old wooden building early Tuesday.

Seven bodies were found, and 18 persons were reported unaccounted for, officials said. Another 17 were hospitalized nearby at Voss, but spokesmen at the hospital indicated none were seriously hurt.

U. S. Embassy officials hurried from Oslo to help the tourists, most of them stranded without clothes, passports or other possessions.

The embassy refused to give out any list of American casualties or survivors until it made certain its information was correct.

The Red Cross issued a list of 24 dead or missing, 17 still in hospital and 15 persons treated for injuries but not hospitalized. But many of the names were incomplete and no hometown addresses or nationalities were given.

2 Bound Over In Home-Made Drugs Charge

Two 31-year-old men were held for the Grand Jury under $2,000 bond today in Municipal Court on police charges they obtained paregoric in East Liverpool drugstores and then boiled it down with homemade equipment to obtain the quarter-grain of opium it contained for the use of one of the pair, who administered it to himself with a hypodermic needle.

Joseph E. Raimond, 430 Washington St., Newell, and Joseph Wolfe of W. 7th St. each were bound over on two charges — illegal possession of a hypodermic syringe and needle and obtaining a habit-forming narcotic from a drugstore by signing a fictitious name on the pharmacist's register.

Exhibited as evidence before Judge George L. Brokaw was the equipment police alleged Wolfe and Raimond used to extract the opium from the paregoric. It included a small double boiler, fired with canned heat, some cotton, the hypodermic syringe and a small leather belt which is placed around the arm before the injection is given to shut off circulation and make a vein enlarge for easier insertion of the needle.

The two were arrested about 2:50 p. m. Monday underneath a railroad trestle off W. 4th St. Ext. near the old West End Pottery plant. Testifying for the state was Patrolman Jack Strobel. He and Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes took the pair into custody after police received a tip of suspicious activity underneath the trestle.

Officer Strobel testified the confiscated equipment was laid out on a large white towel on the ground between the two men. Raimond had the hypodermic needle in his hand and the belt was laid across his arm, he testified.

Patrolman Thomas A. Walker of the Special Service Bureau also testified for the state. He said he took statements from both men in which they admitted that Raimond furnished the money for the paregoric and drove Wolfe to two downtown drugstores to make the purchases. In one of the stores, Wolfe was not required to sign the register, but in the other he used the fictitious name "Joe Woods," according to his statement.

Arraignment of the two was delayed while police investigated to substantiate their charges. Officers said they learned that paregoric, known technically as camphorated opium tincture, generally yields a quarter-grain of opium per ounce. They said Wolfe obtained two ounces of paregoric — an ounce at each drugstore.

Both charges are felonies under Ohio law. Illegal possession of a hypodermic needle carries a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and a 1-5-year sentence. Procuring narcotics by giving false information carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and a 2-5-year term.

Horsetrading Stage At Hand In Steel Talks

Union, Management Still Report No Offer Worth Considering

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel negotiators entered the big buy-and-sell period today. They have talked without accomplishing anything for seven weeks. Now is the time to do business if a July 1 strike is to be avoided.

The steel talks are in a stalemate. Neither side has made any concessions. But with the strike date rapidly approaching, the Steelworkers Union and industry were beginning to do a bit of quiet horsetrading.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and top bargainer for the industry, said steel companies have received no reasonable union offer worth considering.

President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers Union said the industry has made no money offers.

Both carefully guarded their comments, under a common secrecy ban. It seemed reasonable that at this stage of the game both had begun trading settlement offers.

Crucible Slows Coke Operations For Strike

In the event of a steel strike, the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. is planning an orderly shutdown with the cooperation of the union, a company spokesman said.

The company is now slowing down the coke oven operation. The blast furnace department will start down Sunday with the open hearth and electric furnaces starting down Tuesday, he said.

Adjournment Eyed As Ohio Legislators Spur Key Measures

Legislators Back Herter On Germany

Hope Solid Support Will Force Soviet To Change Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's stand against yielding the freedom of West Berlin found overwhelming support in Congress today.

U. S. diplomats hoped the evidence of solid congressional backing in both parties would help impress in Communist minds the need for a change in Moscow's policy if there is ever to be a peaceful solution to the German crisis.

Herter spoke grimly Tuesday night in reporting to the American people on the six weeks of deadlock at the Geneva foreign ministers conference on Germany. The negotiations recessed last Saturday until July 13.

In a 15-minute radio-TV speech, the American foreign affairs chief called on the Soviets to abandon their drive "to add more than two million free West Berliners to the captive peoples of Eastern Europe."

"This is the critical question," he said. "If the Soviets do not hold to this annexationist design, we should be able to reach agreements on Berlin consistent with the honor and interest of all our countries."

The Reds touched off the crisis by demanding an end to the postwar Allied occupation of West Berlin. Britain, France and the United States refused to pull out of the Communist-encircled city without an arrangement for its freedom. The Soviets rejected all Western offers.

Herter linked West Berlin's freedom to America's own. "When their freedom is diminished, our freedom is inevitably diminshed," he said.

He pictured Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as uttering threats and "Communist upside-down talk," aided by the "baneful influence" of speechmaking by Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow and elsewhere while the foreign ministers sat at Geneva.

Herter said "some degree of progress" must be made at Geneva in order to warrant a meeting of heads of state afterwards. "Regretfully," he said, "no such progress has as yet been registered at Geneva."

On the plus side he reported the negotiations had:

1. Produced worldwide approval of the Western powers' plan for solving the Berlin problem, and the problem of a divided Germany, through a peaceful reuni-

Compromise Reached On Sales Levy

Proposed Election Law Changes Given Rough Treatment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Adjournment fever is in the air in the Ohio Legislature. A sales tax compromise has been approved and action on controversial bills is flying thick and fast.

The House compromise on the Senate-approved sales tax bill knocks out a proposed penny tax bracket between 16 and 41 cents and starts the one-cent tax at 31 cents instead.

And Tuesday, the House treated proposed election law changes roughly.

Today the two houses take up such varied and controversial measures as fair trade, milk firms' financial practices and the creation of a new State Department of Industrial and Economic Development.

Suddenly, the Legislature is taking on the no-holds-barred air which generally marks the last few weeks of a session. Calendars are long and tempers are short.

Evidence of short tempers was the resignation, effective today, of Rep. Ed Wallace (D-Pickaway) from the House Taxation Committee after, he told newsmen, Speaker James A. Lantz (D-Fairfield) accused him of going back on his word.

But Wallace stuck around on the committee long enough, after a conference with Lantz, to vote with the majority to reinsert an amendment to require that Ohio merchants report the tax they actually collect rather than on the basis of 3 per cent of their sales. He also voted to cut retailers stamp discounts from two to one per cent.

The upshot is that the bill probably will have a 40-million-dollar yield in the next two years rather than the 49 millions estimated in the Senate version.

The Wallace flurry came after he cast the deciding vote in a morning committee session to junk the amendment requiring merchants to report on taxes actually collected. He told newsmen he voted to ditch the amendment through an honest misunderstanding.

The amendment, according to DiSalle administration figures, is worth about 20 million dollars a year to the state treasury.

The House had four election bills before it in Tuesday's hot-and-heavy floor session. One was approved, another was defeated and action on the other two was postponed until today.

The House passed a Senate-approved bill requiring voting machines to list all candidates of the

'Quit!' Hurled At President Of Argentina

Government Shouts Back That Frondizi Will Remain At Post

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt that toppled Juan Peron, issued a defiant call early today for the resignation of President Arturo Frondizi. The government shot back that Frondizi will not quit.

Rojas sounded a virtual call to arms to the country's increasingly rebellious armed forces.

Branding the 14-month-old Frondizi administration "tarnished and illegitimate," Rojas warned the president he faces a military ouster if he fails to heed the ultimatum to resign.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, the president's staunchest defender in the week-old crisis, retorted that the government would meet the threat of revolt with all its power.

The sudden development clearly drew the lines between the government and rebellious factions in the armed forces. Rojas' denunciation was the boldest open defiance to Frondizi's harried regime.

Vitolo's sharp answer made it clear that Frndizi is determined to cling to the presidency even if it means a showdown with the armed forces.

It appeared extremely doubtful Frondizi would be able to work out a compromise with the militant rebels. The only question seemed to be whether the military leaders have enough strength to force the president out.

Rojas' ultimatum was delivered to a late news conference after a hectic day of conferences between Frondizi and political leaders. The president sought to piece together a new cabinet in hopes of appeasing the military men who have accused him of ineffective economic policies and of coddling the Communists and Peronists who helped elect him.

Beaver Road Aide Fired In Kickback Case

3 Also Scheduled For Suspensions As State Probe Goes On

HARRISBURG—A Beaver County assistant superintendent for the Pennsylvania State Highway Department has been fired and three foremen were recommended for suspension as a probe of alleged kickbacks appeared to be snowballing.

Formal department hearings are scheduled on charges that highway contractors were required to pay a 5 per cent fee to the Beaver County Democratic organization when Samuel G. Neff was chairman.

Paul Fesler, of New Galilee R. D. 2, assistant superintendent of the county highways maintenance force, was fired Tuesday from his $4,750 a year job by Highways Secretary Park H. Martin.

Martin announced Fesler's dismissal with a terse comment of "incompetency" although Fesler had been accused by Auditor General Charles C. Smith of participation in the alleged kickback.

Smith had recommended only that Fesler be suspended pending complete investigation.

Pheasant Broods Blamed For 2 Highway Accidents

Efforts of two drivers to avoid running down walking pheasant broods Tuesday resulted in injuries to two youths and damage to three cars and a farm truck.

Raymond Hinchliffe, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 2 and a passenger in his 1951 farm truck — Charles Buckley, 13, of 620 W. Lincoln Way —were hurt when the truck rolled over on Route 172 west of Lisbon as Hinchliffe attempted to keep from hitting a hen pheasant and her offspring.

Hinchcliffe suffered multiple cuts and abrasions, and Buckley received bruises of the leg and abrasions. They were treated by a Lisbon physician. The mishap occurred at 6:50 p. m.

The youth told the State Highway Patrol he was driving east when he came upon the birds crossing the roadway and he tried to halt. Officers said the truck was traveling too fast to be braked sharply, and it veered down the road, fishtailing and finally turning over.

The truck was damaged badly, and the driver was cited for traveling at a speed in excess of road condition. Officers said the pheasants escaped harm.

Another hen pheasant and her brood were unscathed when an Abington (Pa.) youth safely halted his car on Route 62 a mile west of Salem about 1:55 p. m., only to

Former City Man Given 10-25 Years For Holdup

A 26-year-old Philadelphia man who once resided in East Liverpool and East Palestine was sentenced to 10-25 years in the Ohio Penitentiary Tuesday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Raymond Buzzard after a jury convicted him of the Jan. 20 holdup of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. ticket office at Salem, in which he obtained $27.

Wayne L. Starr waived his right to request a new trial and asked sentencing immediately after a verdict was returned by a jury of four men and eight women which deliberated an hour and a half—climax of a two-day trial.

At the same time, he switched his plea to guilty of a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was given a concurrent 1-3 year term by Judge Buzzard.

Sets Top Of $53 A Week

House Group Modifies Bill On Ohio Jobless Aid Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After seven weeks of study, a House committee has recommended passage of a modified version of a Senate-approved bill to increase Ohio's jobless benefits.

The House version would cut back the top Senate-approved benefit $3 a week—to a top of $53. It also knocks out several Senate moves to liberalize the law.

The House committee voted to set the top unemployment compensation benefit at $42 a week for an individual plus $5 a week for a dependent spouse and $3 a week each for two dependent children. The Senate version set the top individual rate at $47 a week with three dependency allowances of $3 each.

The Senate decreed a 30-week benefit period—up from the present 26-week period. The House committee cut the regular period back to 26 weeks, but ruled that the administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) must increase the benefit period by 50 per cent (up to 39 weeks) when the total of unemployed for 13 weeks exceeds 4 per cent of the Ohio work force covered by the BUC law.

The House committee struck from the bill Senate-approved provisions which would enable persons who quit their jobs or are

'Quit!' Hurled At President Of Argentina

Government Shouts Back That Frondizi Will Remain At Post

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt that toppled Juan Peron, issued a defiant call early today for the resignation of President Arturo Frondizi. The government shot back that Frondizi will not quit.

Rojas sounded a virtual call to arms to the country's increasingly rebellious armed forces.

Branding the 14-month-old Frondizi administration "tarnished and illegitimate," Rojas warned the president he faces a military ouster if he fails to heed the ultimatum to resign.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, the president's staunchest defender in the week-old crisis, retorted that the government would meet the threat of revolt with all its power.

The sudden development clearly drew the lines between the government and rebellious factions in the armed forces. Rojas' denunciation was the boldest open defiance to Frondizi's harried regime.

Vitolo's sharp answer made it clear that Frndizi is determined to cling to the presidency even if it means a showdown with the armed forces.

It appeared extremely doubtful Frondizi would be able to work out a compromise with the militant rebels. The only question seemed to be whether the military leaders have enough strength to force the president out.

Rojas' ultimatum was delivered to a late news conference after a hectic day of conferences between Frondizi and political leaders. The president sought to piece together a new cabinet in hopes of appeasing the military men who have accused him of ineffective economic policies and of coddling the Communists and Peronists who helped elect him.

Beaver Road Aide Fired In Kickback Case

3 Also Scheduled For Suspensions As State Probe Goes On

HARRISBURG—A Beaver County assistant superintendent for the Pennsylvania State Highway Department has been fired and three foremen were recommended for suspension as a probe of alleged kickbacks appeared to be snowballing.

Formal department hearings are scheduled on charges that highway contractors were required to pay a 5 per cent fee to the Beaver County Democratic organization when Samuel G. Neff was chairman.

Paul Fesler, of New Galilee R. D. 2, assistant superintendent of the county highways maintenance force, was fired Tuesday from his $4,750 a year job by Highways Secretary Park H. Martin.

Martin announced Fesler's dismissal with a terse comment of "incompetency" although Fesler had been accused by Auditor General Charles C. Smith of participation in the alleged kickback.

Smith had recommended only that Fesler be suspended pending complete investigation.

Pheasant Broods Blamed For 2 Highway Accidents

Efforts of two drivers to avoid running down walking pheasant broods Tuesday resulted in injuries to two youths and damage to three cars and a farm truck.

Raymond Hinchliffe, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 2 and a passenger in his 1951 farm truck — Charles Buckley, 13, of 620 W. Lincoln Way —were hurt when the truck rolled over on Route 172 west of Lisbon as Hinchliffe attempted to keep from hitting a hen pheasant and her offspring.

Hinchcliffe suffered multiple cuts and abrasions, and Buckley received bruises of the leg and abrasions. They were treated by a Lisbon physician. The mishap occurred at 6:50 p. m.

The youth told the State Highway Patrol he was driving east when he came upon the birds crossing the roadway and he tried to halt. Officers said the truck was traveling too fast to be braked sharply, and it veered down the road, fishtailing and finally turning over.

The truck was damaged badly, and the driver was cited for traveling at a speed in excess of road condition. Officers said the pheasants escaped harm.

Another hen pheasant and her brood were unscathed when an Abington (Pa.) youth safely halted his car on Route 62 a mile west of Salem about 1:55 p. m., only to

Philadelphian Sentenced

Former City Man Given 10-25 Years For Holdup

A 26-year-old Philadelphia man who once resided in East Liverpool and East Palestine was sentenced to 10-25 years in the Ohio Penitentiary Tuesday afternoon by Common Pleas Judge Raymond Buzzard after a jury convicted him of the Jan. 20 holdup of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. ticket office at Salem, in which he obtained $27.

Wayne L. Starr waived his right to request a new trial and asked sentencing immediately after a verdict was returned by a jury of four men and eight women which deliberated an hour and a half—climax of a two-day trial.

At the same time, he switched his plea to guilty of a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was given a concurrent 1-3 year term by Judge Buzzard.

Sets Top Of $53 A Week

House Group Modifies Bill On Ohio Jobless Aid Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After seven weeks of study, a House committee has recommended passage of a modified version of a Senate-approved bill to increase Ohio's jobless benefits.

The House version would cut back the top Senate-approved benefit $3 a week—to a top of $53. It also knocks out several Senate moves to liberalize the law.

The House committee voted to set the top unemployment compensation benefit at $42 a week for an individual plus $5 a week for a dependent spouse and $3 a week each for two dependent children. The Senate version set the top individual rate at $47 a week with three dependency allowances of $3 each.

The Senate decreed a 30-week benefit period—up from the present 26-week period. The House committee cut the regular period back to 26 weeks, but ruled that the administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) must increase the benefit period by 50 per cent (up to 39 weeks) when the total of unemployed for 13 weeks exceeds 4 per cent of the Ohio work force covered by the BUC law.

The House committee struck from the bill Senate-approved provisions which would enable persons who quit their jobs or are

Veto Expected On Cut-Down Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A catch-all $1,375,000,000 housing bill faced today the possibility of a veto it was tailored to avoid.

A cut-down compromise of larger Senate and House bills, it was trimmed to a two-year program in an avowed effort to make it veto-proof.

With 10 days to decide, President Eisenhower was keeping his own counsel about disposing of it, but congressional Republicans expected a veto. Both Budget Director Maurice H. Stans and Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason have indicated they would recommend rejection.

The bill was sent to the President Tuesday by a 241-177 House vote. The margin of passage was nearly 40 votes short of the two-thirds vote necessary to override a veto. The 56-31 vote by which the Senate passed it Monday also fell short of a two-thirds margin.

A veto now, with Congress talking of adjournment in August, would probably mean another housing go-round ending in adoption of about what Republicans proposed when Congress convened Jan. 7.

In area, Brazil is 15 times larger than France. Each has about 42 million inhabitants.

Strauss Could Have Saved Himself

In the aftermath of the Senate's spiteful defeat of Lewis L. Strauss as President Eisenhower's choice for U.S. secretary of commerce, it is being made clear that Strauss could have saved himself from the spitefulness of the Senate Democrats if he had been willing to appease them. But appeasement is not in his nature, especially appeasement of politicians whose partisanship and prejudice have taken control of their feelings.

Neither is it in his nature as a man who has been successful in his own right to pretend that he feels inferior to men who happen to be cloaked with the authority of Congress, and this was a source of irritation, too.

It is not, in fact, stretching the truth of the situation to say that Lewis Strauss brought out the worst in his senatorial opponents simply by refusing to play dead for fear of not being confirmed for a job that needed him far more than he needed it. When he learned he had been rejected, he accepted the outcome philosophically, which is more than could be said about any of the members of the Democratic phalanx that had ridden over him roughshod because he was unwilling and unable to toady to their senatorial authority.

They did not want men like Strauss who have minds of their own and assert their opinions, but the knowledge did not cause him to pretend he was less outspoken and opinionated than he really is.

Still one more thing is being made clear in the aftermath of the Strauss defeat. This was a defeat the Democrats could not afford to administer. They handed the Republicans a campaign issue for next year's presidential election by their rancorous decision to deprive the government of a competent official because they disliked him. The time will come in 1960 presidential politics to explain the things that went into their dislike, and some of them will squirm when their turn comes.

Fuel For The Fires

Some slot machines, tip boards and other gambling devices bit the dust Monday in Hancock County.

West Virginia State Police from the Weirton barracks did the honors with sledge hammers and torches. The equipment destroyed had been seized earlier during a series of raids.

There's enough similar equipment still in operation in the county for a couple of other good fires if anyone is interested in touching them off.

Next Time May Be Different

The Saturday Evening Post series by Dudley T. Blossom, former superintendent of schools in Little Rock, can be thanked for revealing one thing about the school integration issue not previously made clear.

Little Rock was used as a target by segregationists of Arkansas and neighboring states. Politicians jumped into the fray for what they could get out of it, and they were led by Gov. Faubus of Arkansas.

The Blossom articles have shown that Little Rock and its school system never had a chance, once the outsiders and the politicians horned in. A moderate, workable plan of token integration was lost in the shuffle. The people who wanted it to succeed were trampled under foot by the rabble-rousers and the rabble they roused.

The Little Rock moderates were taken off guard. The federal government was taken off guard and had no preconceived plan to combat the imported terrorists and the home-grown bully-boys who took their cue from the outsiders.

But next time may be different—and a next time now is in sight. A federal court has declared the school-closing law unconstitutional. That is one blow to Faubist extremism. Another blow already had been delivered when the governor was unable to bring about the defeat of moderates running for the Little Rock school board.

It is possible that Little Rock schools may have outlived their troubles by next September. If it happens, the judgment of moderates outside Arkansas and the segregationist South will have been vindicated. They contended from the first that the one sure way to get rid of the extremists would be to let them go to extremes. They did go to extremes. They caused the schools to be closed and gave anotherwise progressive city the reputation of being under the spell of violent reaction.

Among Our Minor Fascinations

The time is upon us to ogle beauty contestants again.

There has been a subtle shift of emphasis away from mere curve and line to all-around charm and talent in these contests, yet the central fact remains. A contestant could win without being able to play a zither but she could not even be a contestant without being able to draw a whistle.

Though it is well understood by this late date that much more goes into the contests than a spontaneous uprising of whistle-drawing females from the far corners of America and the earth (there is a Miss Universe, too, besides a Mrs. America and a Miss America) no one minds the commercialism.

On the contrary, nearly everybody relishes the thought that a first prize may be as good as a small oil well and that every contestant acquires local fame that will buoy up her morale as long as people remember that she once was in the big showdown. It's almost as sound an asset as having been scouted by the New York Giants, if you once were an aspiring ballplayer.

Mrs. America has been chosen first, for the benefit of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. But that is all right, because the beauty-show business started for the benefit of Atlantic City, which had been looking for a way to keep its hotels and restaurants filled up after Labor Day and found it away back in 1921. Long Beach, Calif., is behind the Miss Universe contest. And all of us, man and boy, woman and girl, are behind the hundreds of local and regional contests held in every nook and cranny of the republic.

They have become one of the minor fascinations of the American way of life, along with ingenious ways to serve ground beefsteak, the easy-pay plan and sun worship.

Nothing To Say

The Soviet Union did not get what it wanted at Geneva, which was a summit conference.

The Western Allies did not get what they wanted, either, which was enough harmony with the Soviet Union to justify a summit conference.

But the Western Allies did not expect to get what they wanted. The Soviet Union did expect to get what it wanted. That is the key difference as the Geneva conference goes into a lengthy recess.

The Western Allies have told the Soviet Union, in effect, that if anything p comes up they are in the book and can be reached but that otherwise there is no point in getting together again until July 13.

Whether Andrei Gromyko and the head strategist of Communist intransigence know it or not, they have been rebuffed—hard.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ladies, if your wedding-ring finger itches, see your lawyer and check on the fare to Reno. Heretofore you could just use an ointment but you should now use a legal firm. An Einstein Medical College dermatologist says the wedding-ring finger eczema, fairly widespread among married women, is an indication of an unhappy marriage. He says experiments show the old idea the irritation was due to allergy to gold or platinum is baloney and that it can be due to domestic quarrels.

So look at your ring finger, gals, and see if you're happily wed or not.

Millions of wives have gone all their lives never suspecting the itch under rings was a clear sign their husband was a bum. (We asked our missus about this. "I can size you up without help from any ring," she declared flatly.)

IT IS ALWAYS a mistake for our side to go to Geneva without St. Bernard dogs. What free world delegates need at such sessions is a discomfort index. Summit meetings are inexcusable. There must be an easier way to get insults wholesale.

Russia doesn't claim to have invented the monkeywrench. But it is first to perfect it so it can be used as a tool for brotherly love. . . .

Gov. Rockefeller wants a three-man racing commission instead of one. He probably thinks ethics at the trotting tracks call for 24-hour shift.

Strike by taxi men over the New York City 10-cent tax on rides possible. Customers would support it except for the fact they would have to learn to WALK again. The tax on cab fares is nothing more than a tax on a man for taking a load off his feet. It is an impost on keeping an appointment, catching train or getting out of rain in a hurry. Well, that's the way the cab bounces. In New York a man now needs a tonic to be taken to steady nerves while watching cab meter. "Where do you wanna go?" asks cabbie. And the only sensible answer is, "Drive on a minute while I figure out the cost sheet."

Gwen Verdon's apartment was robbed by thieves who wrecked the place. In a theatrical atmosphere they may have been going all out for good reviews next morning.

Crime is so common on streets, in parks and in homes and in offices of the United States that there should be valor medals for innocent survivors.

Census shows one adult in every eight owns stock. This is why smart, big operators are doing so well. . . .

What we wanna know is what the fallout danger is from the Geneva conferences?

THE FCC sticks to the ruling TV and radio must give the same time to a buffoon or otherwise incompetent as it gives to a distinguished candidate for the presidency and other high offices. Every splinter candidate can get equal time with a Hoover, a Roosevelt, a Wilson or an Eisenhower. No airwave station could to this and have time for any regular programs. (Voice from a man in revolt against "westerns" and "private eye" programs: "Would that be bad?")

Unless law is changed no radio or TV station would dare show a candidate of a major party at a clambake without checking to make sure of its clambake coverage on everybody else in race.

War Of Nerves

Pinkish UE Seeks AEC Approval

By Victor Riesel

A persistent caller these days is jangling the phones and nerves of pivotal executives of the Atomic Energy Commission, storekeeper of the biggest bombs humanity has known. That persistent telephoner is the spokesman for what government and congressional records describe as "one of the strongest Communist-controlled unions in America, the UE — United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America."

Victor Riesel

The spokesman lawyer, Frank Donner, has been demanding that the AEC immediately remove an 11-year ban on the UE's admission to secret commission installations.

There plants whip out atomic bombs, the makings for the big one, special futuristic thermonuclear power equipment and some space age stuff the AEC doesn't like to see discussed in these public prints.

In 1948 the Atomic Energy Commission told the General Electric Co. that the UE could no longer be the representative union in the secret Knolls lab at Schenectady, N.Y.

A YEAR LATER the CIO, under Philip Murray, declassed the UE by blotting it out on grounds that it has consistently followed the corkscrew line of the Socialist fatherland, better known as the U.S.S.R. of Stalin's era of the personal cult.

In the decade between the ouster and today's outer space flying of electronic gadgets, the Atomic Energy Commission's regional operations managers have examined every contract let by the AEC.

Where such a contract, even for parts, went to a firm unionized by the UE, that contract has been suspended. Either the UE or the contract went.

During this period the Justice Department moved before the Subversive Activities Control Board to disband the UE, under the law which gives the U.S. the power to dissolve such an outfit if it is Communist dominated. The proceedings went on with the speed of a 10-ton trailer truck in a swamp. Finally a few months ago, the Justice Department dropped its case.

Immediately, UE lawyer, Frank Donner began telephoning the chief counsel and the chief labor officer of the Atomic Energy Commission. Counselor Donner said that the Justice Department's action was dispensation. He claimed the UE was now entitled to move into the secret energy installations.

In checking the record of the union and Mr. Donner himself, the AEC security people learned that quite recently the lawyer had been a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Counselor Donner was accused three years ago by three witnesses, testifying under oath, before this committee, of membership in a "Communist cell inside a federal agency."

SO LAST MARCH 11 the committee asked the erudite attorney to come to courtroom No. 6, in the new Federal Building, Pittsburgh. The committee asked Donner this question:

"The fact is that you . . .and a number of others who were employes of the government of the United States at that time belonged to a cell of the Communist party operating within the National Labor Relations Board, is that not a fact?"

Nowhere in the record of this hearing does Donner answer this with a flat "no." He says, instead, among other things, "it (the question) is irrelevant, remote, far before the time I ever joined the UE and I decline to answer it."

Mr. Donner is not the only Washington spokesman for the UE — some of whose top officials have been accused by congressional witnesses of being important undercover Communists. The UE has a legislative representative by the name of Russ Nixon. He is now making the rounds of Congress.

Brother Nixon has twice under oath "refused to answer questions put to him by the committee regarding his Communist party membership or activity." That is a quote from the official congressional proceedings. Nixon's task on The Hill is to convince the Congress that the UE is deserving of entry into the AEC arena. But the union itself needs no AEC approval to organize elsewhere.

In the past few months it has plants, radar tube factories and jet motorfirms. Under its general organizer, Jim Matles, described by this congressional committee as "a leader in the Communist party," the UE is on the march. The more things change they more they are the same.

Purely Personal

It bothers me more to see film clips of Secretary of State Herter walking without his crutches than to see him walking with his crutches, and I felt the same way about attempts to conceal the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's condition.

It would appear to me that politics in Louisiana has hit its all-time low when partisans fall to quarreling over who makes the most gain out of Gov. Long's mental illness.

I wonder how many others have learned it is possible to follow certain stereotyped TV shows without watching them, because the routines that go with the sound effects have been impressed indelibly in memory.

Even if it means I must stand trial for irregular thoughts, I cannot be astonished by the intransigence of the Russians in the German issue. Our side is being just as firm as their side, which is the way I'd expect it to be.

Richard H. Rovere's book on the late Sen. Joe McCarthy will make clear what never was too clear at the time — that it wasn't the senator from Wisconsin who was significant but the large number of Americans who believed everything he said without proof. Rovere warns that if a really malicious man ever duplicated McCarthy's feat the country would be in real trouble.

I see no reason a baseball player shouldn't criticize his manager after a losing game if his manager feels free to criticize him. On the other hand, I see a dozen reasons why both should keep their mouths shut.

I have been deeply impressed by the number of people who have murmured, "Amen" to my recent admission that gardening had been crossed off my list of things it is feasible to do in this climate. I also have crossed off lemon-growing, mountain climbing, skiing and deep-sea fishing.

It appears to me that as many kids continue to fall out of windows as to pull plastic bags over their heads, yet no one is proposing a law to make windows illegal.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to express my opinion about the plan to purchase a site across from the City Hall for use as a parking lot.

This lot apparently will accommodate 12 cars and the price is $17,000, plus $3,000 for preparing it for the parking of cars. This is a total of $20,000 to park 12 cars. Also, the interest charges for the bonds and the total amount of the project do not justify the returns from 12 meters.

Parking is a problem in this town, but I do not believe that 12 cars will justify the spending of $20,000.

I wish to commend Councilman Tullis for again wanting to think it over before spending the money. It seems that most of the time he has the people's thoughts in mind when he stands alone on many questions.

My personal opinion is that an ordinance to borrow a sum of money as large as this to park 12 cars only is unreasonable.

Crucial Three Weeks

By David Lawrence

War May Hinge On Approaching Decisions

If there is a war in the not far distant future — and it doesn't have to be a nuclear war either—decisions made in the next three weeks can bring it on.

David Lawrence

The coming three weeks before the Foreign Ministers Conference is resumed can be crucial. Mistaken attitudes of appeasement could prove more dangerous today than similar policies appeared to be at the time of the 1938 summit conference at Munich which preceded by a year the outbreak of World War II.

Few persons, generally speaking, realize the gravity of the situation. They look at the outward signs of peace and view with indifference the negotiations that have been going on for six weeks at Geneva between the East and West. Why should there be war, they ask, when neither side wants it? Then comes the usual argument about how terrible a nuclear war would be and how both sides would be devastated. Most people thereupon dismiss the subject as academic.

What is not generally considered is that a non-nuclear war can come as quickly today as it did in Europe in 1939 or in Korea in 1950. It can come again as a result of the same kind of bluffing tactics which are being engaged in today. Sooner or later someone takes a chance and assumes the other fellow will not fight. Then war comes. In three major instances in this century it has been based on a miscalculation of the strength and possible reaction of the democracies of the West to an act of aggression.

WHY SHOULD MOSCOW miscalculate? For one thing the West gives the appearance of disunity and of military unpreparedness. The West is strong enough to fight a nuclear war but the Soviets may have their doubts whether, when the chips are down, any nuclear weapons would be used by either side.

Military men of the West have built their entire defense plan on the theory that atomic bombs would certainly be used. But just as both sides refrained from using poison gas in the last war, so it is possible that because of world opinion nuclear weapons would be abandoned.

The kind of war that could readily happen is called conventional because it involves only land armies and the type of bombs that were dropped from military aircraft in the Korean War between 1950 and 1953. While this was a conventional war, there were at least one million men engaged in it at its peak. The Communists are aware that the West is weak in conventional armament.

What would be the main basis, however, for the Soviet miscalculation that could bring on a war? The Geneva conference, for one thing, has not convinced the Soviet government that the Allies are united. There is a strong belief in Moscow that Britain will not stand with America and France on a platform of resoluteness.

THE SOVIETS already have misconstrued British Prime Minister Macmillan's eagerness to negotiate as a sign of weakness or timidity.

Again and again press reports in the West have said that the British want a summit conference at any cost and that it doesn't matter whether any concessions have been made in advance by the Soviets.

It is true that the British Prime Minister doesn't want to leave any stone unturned to negotiate peace but he is neither a Chamberlain nor a Baldwin. Furthermore, he knows America and how it reacts to threats and ultimatums such as the Soviets have been issuing.

The men in the Kremlin could make no greater mistake than to assume that Britain at the showdown stage will fail its allies or will adopt a weaker position toward the Soviet Union than do the other partners in the Western alliance.

The big problem of the moment is to make clear to the world that the Western countries are united. It will take more than mere words to do it. For one thing the British Labor party in England and the Democratic party in the United States will each have to make a dramatic demonstration of faith and confidence in its own government's policies. More will be required than just proclamations of high purpose and unity.

THE WEST will have to tell the Soviets that, much as war is deplored, there may come a time when resistance will become inevitable and that the Kremlin should not play with fire and take risks.

Accidents can happen in moments of international tension and it is significant that only last week when Communist planes attacked an American plane in the Far East widespread demands arose that the fire should be returned if any such incidents happen again.

That's only another way of saying that America has not become pacifist minded and will not accept any encroachment on its rights.

In the next three weeks the Western Allies have an opportunity to issue an unequivical warning. There may be some merit in wanting to keep on talking to the Soviet Union in more conferences but there is danger in giving the impression that the West is afraid.

The battle of the next three weeks is psychological. If Moscow gets the impression that the West is in an appeasing mood and is timid, then war by accident or design may be the tragic outcome. By firmness in the next three weeks the West may avert a war.

Firm, But Also Mild

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter—in his TV-radio report to the nation Tuesday night — added nothing to what was already known about his troubles with the Soviets at Geneva. He reviewed the obvious.

The mild, 64-year-old Herter's talk, while firm, was also mild. He made a big point of emphasizing that the Western Allies would not abandon West Berlin. This may have been reassuring to the West Berliners, but it was hardly news.

Herter and the foreign ministers of Britain and France talked for six weeks—in sessions almost incredibly dull and colorless — at Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

They discussed at great length the Soviet demand that the Westerners get their troops out of West Berlin and the Westerners' refusal to do anything of the kind. They recessed last week until July 13 without reaching any agreement.

On the paramount question facing the ministers—is there any reason to believe they'll do better the next time?—Herter hit a small note of optimism and then became tremendously vague.

Herter said he and the other Western foreign ministers did not go to Geneva with "any high hopes." He regretted "no significant progress was made."

Then at the end of his talk Herter threw in this: "The conference revealed possible areas of agreement concerning specific arrangements for Berlin. I believe that it may be possible to build on these areas of agreement if the Soviet Union is prepared to accept the continued existence of a free West Berlin under Western protection."

If the Geneva talks so far have revealed anything it is that the Soviets are not prepared to do anything of the kind.

It was obvious before Herter and the others met Gromyko in Geneva that they could not abandon West Berlin which—although 110 miles inside Communist East Germany — is linked with the West's big ally, Western Germany.

The Allied troops in the city have no practical meaning in the sense that they could stand off a Communist assault—if that day came. Their presence in the city is important for its symbolic meaning.

They are living evidence of the Western Allies support for the West Berliners, and the Allies' insistence on keeping the supply lines open to West Berlin—through East German territory — means the West provides the city's life blood.

If the troops were withdrawn and the supply lines closed, in no time the Soviet and German Communists could force the West Berliners to their knees. Their city would be part of the Communist world in no time.

Even worse, if the Western troops were withdrawn under Soviet pressure and threats, the whole Western alliance in Europe would come apart since its own members would lose confidence in its will and usefulness.

This was why the West went to Geneva determined—and is still determined—not to abandon West Berlin. So when Herter emphasized this in his talk he was stating not only the obvious but what already had been stated.

In short—taking Herter's talk as a whole he seems to have no more positive reason now for thinking agreement can be worked out with the Soviets than he did when he first went to Geneva in May. All he expressed Tuesday night was a small hope that maybe things can be different.

But he offered no new proposals or solutions.

They caused the schools to be closed and gave anotherwise progressive city the reputation of being under the spell of violent reaction.

Among Our Minor Fascinations

The time is upon us to ogle beauty contestants again.

There has been a subtle shift of emphasis away from mere curve and line to all-around charm and talent in these contests, yet the central fact remains. A contestant could win without being able to play a zither but she could not even be a contestant without being able to draw a whistle.

Though it is well understood by this late date that much more goes into the contests than a spontaneous uprising of whistle-drawing females from the far corners of America and the earth (there is a Miss Universe, too, besides a Mrs. America and a Miss America) no one minds the commercialism.

On the contrary, nearly everybody relishes the thought that a first prize may be as good as a small oil well and that every contestant acquires local fame that will buoy up her morale as long as people remember that she once was in the big showdown. It's almost as sound an asset as having been scouted by the New York Giants, if you once were an aspiring ballplayer.

Mrs. America has been chosen first, for the benefit of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. But that is all right, because the beauty-show business started for the benefit of Atlantic City, which had been looking for a way to keep its hotels and restaurants filled up after Labor Day and found it away back in 1921. Long Beach, Calif., is behind the Miss Universe contest. And all of us, man and boy, woman and girl, are behind the hundreds of local and regional contests held in every nook and cranny of the republic.

They have become one of the minor fascinations of the American way of life, along with ingenious ways to serve ground beefsteak, the easy-pay plan and sun worship.

Nothing To Say

The Soviet Union did not get what it wanted at Geneva, which was a summit conference.

The Western Allies did not get what they wanted, either, which was enough harmony with the Soviet Union to justify a summit conference.

But the Western Allies did not expect to get what they wanted. The Soviet Union did expect to get what it wanted. That is the key difference as the Geneva conference goes into a lengthy recess.

The Western Allies have told the Soviet Union, in effect, that if anything new comes up they are in the book and can be reached but that otherwise there is no point in getting together again until July 13.

Whether Andrei Gromyko and the head strategist of Communist intransigence know it or not, they have been rebuffed—hard.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Ladies, if your wedding-ring finger itches, see your lawyer and check on the fare to Reno. Heretofore you could just use an ointment but you should now use a legal firm. An Einstein Medical College dermatologist says the wedding-ring finger eczema, fairly widespread among married women, is an indication of an unhappy marriage. He says experiments show the old idea the irritation was due to allergy to gold or platinum is baloney and that it can be due to domestic quarrels.

So look at your ring finger, gals, and see if you're happily wed or not.

Millions of wives have gone all their lives never suspecting the itch under rings was a clear sign their husband was a bum. (We asked our missus about this. "I can size you up without help from any ring," she declared flatly.)

IT IS ALWAYS a mistake for our side to go to Geneva without St. Bernard dogs. What free world delegates need at such sessions is a discomfort index. Summit meetings are inexcusable. There must be an easier way to get insults wholesale.

Russia doesn't claim to have invented the monkeywrench. But it is first to perfect it so it can be used as a tool for brotherly love. . . .

Gov. Rockefeller wants a three-man racing commission instead of one. He probably thinks ethics at the trotting tracks call for 24-hour shift.

Strike by taxi men over the New York City 10-cent tax on rides possible. Customers would support it except for the fact they would have to learn to WALK again. The tax on cab fares is nothing more than a tax on a man for taking a load off his feet. It is an impost on keeping an appointment, catching train or getting out of rain in a hurry. Well, that's the way the cab bounces. In New York a man now needs a tonic to be taken to steady nerves while watching cab meter. "Where do you wanna go?" asks cabbie. And the only sensible answer is, "Drive on a minute while I figure out the cost sheet."

Gwen Verdon's apartment was robbed by thieves who wrecked the place. In a theatrical atmosphere they may have been going all out for good reviews next morning.

Crime is so common on streets, in parks and in homes and in offices of the United States that there should be valor medals for innocent survivors.

Census shows one adult in every eight owns stock. This is why smart, big operators are doing so well. . . .

What we wanna know is what the fallout danger is from the Geneva conferences?

THE FCC sticks to the ruling TV and radio must give the same time to a buffoon or otherwise incompetent as it gives to a distinguished candidate for the presidency and other high offices. Every splinter candidate can get equal time with a Hoover, a Roosevelt, a Wilson or an Eisenhower. No airwave station could to this and have time for any regular programs. (Voice from a man in revolt against "westerns" and "private eye" programs: "Would that be bad?")

Unless law is changed no radio or TV station would dare show a candidate of a major party at a clambake without checking to make sure of its clambake coverage on everybody else in race.

Pinkish UE Seeks AEC Approval

By Victor Riesel

A persistent caller these days is jangling the phones and nerves of pivotal executives of the Atomic Energy Commission, storekeeper of the biggest bombs humanity has known. That persistent telephoner is the spokesman for what government and congressional records describe as "one of the strongest Communist-controlled unions in America, the UE — United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America."

Victor Riesel

The spokesman lawyer, Frank Donner, has been demanding that the AEC immediately remove an 11-year ban on the UE's admission to secret commission installations.

There plants whip out atomic bombs, the makings for the big one, special futuristic thermonuclear power equipment and some space age stuff the AEC doesn't like to see discussed in these public prints.

In 1948 the Atomic Energy Commission told the General Electric Co. that the UE could no longer be the representative union in the secret Knolls lab at Schenectady, N.Y.

A YEAR LATER the CIO, under Philip Murray, declassed the UE by blotting it out on grounds that it has consistently followed the corkscrew line of the Socialist fatherland, better known as the U.S.S.R. of Stalin's era of the personal cult.

In the decade between the ouster and today's outer space flying of electronic gadgets, the Atomic Energy Commission's regional operations managers have examined every contract let by the AEC.

Where such a contract, even for parts, went to a firm unionized by the UE, that contract has been suspended. Either the UE or the contract went.

During this period the Justice Department moved before the Subversive Activities Control Board to disband the UE, under the law which gives the U.S. the power to dissolve such an outfit if it is Communist dominated. The proceedings went on with the speed of a 10-ton trailer truck in a swamp. Finally a few months ago, the Justice Department dropped its case.

Immediately, UE lawyer, Frank Donner began telephoning the chief counsel and the chief labor officer of the Atomic Energy Commission. Counselor Donner said that the Justice Department's action was dispensation. He claimed the UE was now entitled to move into the secret energy installations.

In checking the record of the union and Mr. Donner himself, the AEC security people learned that quite recently the lawyer had been a witness before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Counselor Donner was accused three years ago by three witnesses, testifying under oath, before this committee, of membership in a "Communist cell inside a federal agency."

SO LAST MARCH 11 the committee asked the erudite attorney to come to courtroom No. 6, in the new Federal Building, Pittsburgh. The committee asked Donner this question:

"The fact is that you . . .and a number of others who were employes of the government of the United States at that time belonged to a cell of the Communist party operating within the National Labor Relations Board, is that not a fact?"

Nowhere in the record of this hearing does Donner answer this with a flat "no." He says, instead, among other things, "it (the question) is irrelevant, remote, far before the time I ever joined the UE and I decline to answer it."

Mr. Donner is not the only Washington spokesman for the UE — some of whose top officials have been accused by congressional witnesses of being important undercover Communists. The UE has a legislative representative by the name of Russ Nixon. He is now making the rounds of Congress.

Brother Nixon has twice under oath "refused to answer questions put to him by the committee regarding his Communist party membership or activity." That is a quote from the official congressional proceedings. Nixon's task on The Hill is to convince the Congress that the UE is deserving of entry into the AEC arena. But the union itself needs no AEC approval to organize elsewhere.

In the past few months it has plants, radar tube factories and jet motorfirms. Under its general organizer, Jim Matles, described by this congressional committee as "a leader in the Communist party," the UE is on the march. The more things change they more they are the same.

Purely Personal

It bothers me more to see film clips of Secretary of State Herter walking without his crutches than to see him walking with his crutches, and I felt the same way about attempts to conceal the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's condition.

It would appear to me that politics in Louisiana has hit its all-time low when partisans fall to quarreling over who makes the most gain out of Gov. Long's mental illness.

I wonder how many others have learned it is possible to follow certain stereotyped TV shows without watching them, because the routines that go with the sound effects have been impressed indelibly in memory.

Even if it means I must stand trial for irregular thoughts, I cannot be astonished by the intransigence of the Russians in the German issue. Our side is being just as firm as their side, which is the way I'd expect it to be.

Richard H. Rovere's book on the late Sen. Joe McCarthy will make clear what never was too clear at the time — that it wasn't the senator from Wisconsin who was significant but the large number of Americans who believed everything he said without proof. Rovere warns that if a really malicious man ever duplicated McCarthy's feat the country would be in real trouble.

I see no reason a baseball player shouldn't criticize his manager after a losing game if his manager feels free to criticize him. On the other hand, I see a dozen reasons why both should keep their mouths shut.

I have been deeply impressed by the number of people who have murmured, "Amen" to my recent admission that gardening had been crossed off my list of things it is feasible to do in this climate. I also have crossed off lemon-growing, mountain climbing, skiing and deep-sea fishing.

It appears to me that as many kids continue to fall out of windows as to pull plastic bags over their heads, yet no one is proposing a law to make windows illegal.

Letter To The Editor

I would like to express my opinion about the plan to purchase a site across from the City Hall for use as a parking lot.

This lot apparently will accommodate 12 cars and the price is $17,000, plus $3,000 for preparing it for the parking of cars. This is a total of $20,000 to park 12 cars. Also, the interest charges for the bonds and the total amount of the project do not justify the returns from 12 meters.

Parking is a problem in this town, but I do not believe that 12 cars will justify the spending of $20,000.

I wish to commend Councilman Tullis for again wanting to think it over before spending the money. It seems that most of the time he has the people's thoughts in mind when he stands alone on many questions.

My personal opinion is that an ordinance to borrow a sum of money as large as this to park 12 cars only is unreasonable.

Crucial Three Weeks

By David Lawrence

War May Hinge On Approaching Decisions

If there is a war in the not far distant future — and it doesn't have to be a nuclear war either—decisions made in the next three weeks can bring it on.

David Lawrence

The coming three weeks before the Foreign Ministers Conference is resumed can be crucial. Mistaken attitudes of appeasement could prove more dangerous today than similar policies appeared to be at the time of the 1938 summit conference at Munich which preceded by a year the outbreak of World War II.

Few persons, generally speaking, realize the gravity of the situation. They look at the outward signs of peace and view with indifference the negotiations that have been going on for six weeks at Geneva between the East and West. Why should there be war, they ask, when neither side wants it? Then comes the usual argument about how terrible a nuclear war would be and how both sides would be devastated. Most people thereupon dismiss the subject as academic.

What is not generally considered is that a non-nuclear war can come as quickly today as it did in Europe in 1939 or in Korea in 1950. It can come again as a result of the same kind of bluffing tactics which are being engaged in today. Sooner or later someone takes a chance and assumes the other fellow will not fight. Then war comes. In three major instances in this century it has been based on a miscalculation of the strength and possible reaction of the democracies of the West to an act of aggression.

WHY SHOULD MOSCOW miscalculate? For one thing the West gives the appearance of disunity and of military unpreparedness. The West is strong enough to fight a nuclear war but the Soviets may have their doubts whether, when the chips are down, any nuclear weapons would be used by either side.

Military men of the West have built their entire defense plan on the theory that atomic bombs would certainly be used. But just as both sides refrained from using poison gas in the last war, so it is possible that because of world opinion nuclear weapons would be abandoned.

The kind of war that could readily happen is called conventional because it involves only land armies and the type of bombs that were dropped from military aircraft in the Korean War between 1950 and 1953. While this was a conventional war, there were at least one million men engaged in it at its peak. The Communists are aware that the West is weak in conventional armament.

What would be the main basis, however, for the Soviet miscalculation that could bring on a war? The Geneva conference, for one thing, has not convinced the Soviet government that the Allies are united. There is a strong belief in Moscow that Britain will not stand with America and France on a platform of resoluteness.

THE SOVIETS already have misconstrued British Prime Minister Macmillan's eagerness to negotiate as a sign of weakness or timidity.

Again and again press reports in the West have said that the British want a summit conference at any cost and that it doesn't matter whether any concessions have been made in advance by the Soviets.

It is true that the British Prime Minister doesn't want to leave any stone unturned to negotiate peace but he is neither a Chamberlain nor a Baldwin. Furthermore, he knows America and how it reacts to threats and ultimatums such as the Soviets have been issuing.

The men in the Kremlin could make no greater mistake than to assume that Britain at the showdown stage will fail its allies or will adopt a weaker position toward the Soviet Union than do the other partners in the Western alliance.

The big problem of the moment is to make clear to the world that the Western countries are united. It will take more than mere words to do it. For one thing the British Labor party in England and the Democratic party in the United States will each have to make a dramatic demonstration of faith and confidence in its own government's policies. More will be required than just proclamations of high purpose and unity.

THE WEST will have to tell the Soviets that, much as war is deplored, there may come a time when resistance will become inevitable and that the Kremlin should not play with fire and take risks.

Accidents can happen in moments of international tension and it is significant that only last week when Communist planes attacked an American plane in the Far East widespread demands arose that the fire should be returned if any such incidents happen again.

That's only another way of saying that America has not become pacifist minded and will not accept any encroachment on its rights.

In the next three weeks the Western Allies have an opportunity to issue an unequivical warning. There may be some merit in wanting to keep on talking to the Soviet Union in more conferences but there is danger in giving the impression that the West is afraid.

The battle of the next three weeks is psychological. If Moscow gets the impression that the West is in an appeasing mood and is timid, then war by accident or design may be the tragic outcome. By firmness in the next three weeks the West may avert a war.

Firm, But Also Mild

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter—in his TV-radio report to the nation Tuesday night — added nothing to what was already known about his troubles with the Soviets at Geneva. He reviewed the obvious.

The mild, 64-year-old Herter's talk, while firm, was also mild. He made a big point of emphasizing that the Western Allies would not abandon West Berlin. This may have been reassuring to the West Berliners, but it was hardly news.

Herter and the foreign ministers of Britain and France talked for six weeks—in sessions almost incredibly dull and colorless — at Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

They discussed at great length the Soviet demand that the Westerners get their troops out of West Berlin and the Westerners' refusal to do anything of the kind. They recessed last week until July 13 without reaching any agreement.

On the paramount question facing the ministers—is there any reason to believe they'll do better the next time?—Herter hit a small note of optimism and then became tremendously vague.

Herter said he and the other Western foreign ministers did not go to Geneva with "any high hopes." He regretted "no significant progress was made."

Then at the end of his talk Herter threw in this: "The conference revealed possible areas of agreement concerning specific arrangements for Berlin. I believe that it may be possible to build on these areas of agreement if the Soviet Union is prepared to accept the continued existence of a free West Berlin under Western protection."

If the Geneva talks so far have revealed anything it is that the Soviets are not prepared to do anything of the kind.

It was obvious before Herter and the others met Gromyko in Geneva that they could not abandon West Berlin which—although 110 miles inside Communist East Germany — is linked with the West's big ally, Western Germany.

The Allied troops in the city have no practical meaning in the sense that they could stand off a Communist assault—if that day came. Their presence in the city is important for its symbolic meaning.

They are living evidence of the Western Allies support for the West Berliners, and the Allies' insistence on keeping the supply lines open to West Berlin—through East German territory — means the West provides the city's life blood.

If the troops were withdrawn and the supply lines closed, in no time the Soviet and German Communists could force the West Berliners to their knees. Their city would be part of the Communist world in no time.

Even worse, if the Western troops were withdrawn under Soviet pressure and threats, the whole Western alliance in Europe would come apart since its own members would lose confidence in its will and usefulness.

This was why the West went to Geneva determined—and is still determined—not to abandon West Berlin. So when Herter emphasized this in his talk he was stating not only the obvious but what already had been stated.

In short—taking Herter's talk as a whole he seems to have no more positive reason now for thinking agreement can be worked out with the Soviets than he did when he first went to Geneva in May. All he expressed Tuesday night was a small hope that maybe things can be different.

But he offered no new proposals or solutions.

The House committee, however, refused to disturb a Senate-approved provision to permit Great Lakes seamen to collect benefits during the winter. Seamen are barred from benefits under present law.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has indicated he will agree to a benefits package which does not exceed $53 a week for a family unit. The House committee's version meets that limit exactly.

Under present law, the top for an individual is $33 with two dependency allowances of $3 each for family men, a maximum of $39.

At 12:55 Tuesday afternoon they moved into "10 North" in five squads, hurling tear gas grenades. A bulldozer ripped bars from a window as a diversionary move.

Appleby and two other hostages crawled under a bed seeking protection from the gas.

"I thought I would die," said Appleby. "I had to get outside in a hurry. Some old boy grabbed me and helped me out.

same party on a single line in general elections, instead of rotating names. There wasn't a single vote to spare as the House passed the measure with a bare constitutional majority, 70-59.

But the House defeated a Senate-approved bill to extend the present two-year registration of voters to four years and permit re-registration by mail.

Extend poll closing hours from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Franklin, Lucas, Summit, and Montgomery counties. The Senate has approved it.

Require door-to-door registration of voters in all cities of 16,000 or more population.

Again without a vote to spare, the House approved Senate changes in an administration bill to enlarge the Pardon and Parole Commission from three to five members with $12,000 annual salaries. The act also establishes a probation-parole bureau in the Division of Correction.

But the House refused to accept Senate amendments to two other measures and started them toward Senate-House conference committees:

Needing 70 votes for approval, a bill to ban motor scooter licenses for 14 and 15-year-olds got only 65 votes for concurrence in Senate amendments. Opponents said the Senate eliminated financial responsibility for scooter operators under 16.

Senate amendments were rejected on an emergency bill to eliminate the present law's requirement that state weights and measures equipment be housed in Columbus. Backers of the bill want the equipment moved to a Department of Agriculture laboratory near suburban Reynoldsburg.

The Senate, after long debate, finally passed and sent to the House a bill requiring local school boards, if requested by parents of at least eight pupils, to apply to the State Board of Education for permission to set up special classes for slow learners.

A companion measure passed and sent to the House provides for education and training of mentally retarded persons above the age of 21.

The Senate also sent to the House by unanimous vote a bill to create a commission to give an 18-month study to the possibility of creating an Ohio educational television network.

Starr also is wanted in Beaver Falls for a $370 railroad station holdup and at Sewickley for failing to return a rented car to an agency.

His arrest followed a wreck in East Liverpool Jan. 25 in which he smashed the rented car into a utility pole on St. Clair Ave. and Grant St.

At the time, officers here had the auto towed away and asked Starr to go to headquarters to help make out the report of the accident. They became suspicious when they learned that the auto had been rented and that Starr was carrying an application for an Ohio driver's license, although he gave a home address in Philadelphia.

A second search of the auto turned up a receipt showing he had purchased a .38-caliber revolver a few days earlier in Columbus. Checking the prisoner, officers found the weapon in his hip pocket. The investigation was pushed further when officers noted he fitted the description of the man who held up the Salem railway station five days earlier.

Meanwhile, Beaver Falls authorities entered the case, suspecting Starr of the $370 holdup of the 11th St. Station there. He was identified here Jan. 25 by Agent Howard F. Williamson, 59, of Emsworth, as the man who robbed him Jan. 7.

Starr was taken to Salem, where Agent James Warrington identified him as the robber. He was bound over to the Grand Jury in Municipal Court on the concealed weapons charge, then taken to Salem for arraignment on the holdup count.

Authorities said Starr resided in East Palestine 10 or 12 years ago and was sentenced from there to the Mansfield Reformatory as a juvenile offender.

In 1954, he was working on a City Hospital construction job when East Liverpool police took him into custody for Pittsburgh authorities on a bad check charge. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

Starr's trial was the last criminal case pending from the regular April term of court, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said. Arraignment is scheduled Wednesday, July 1, at 9 a. m. for six persons indicted by the recalled Grand Jury.

Lester Beighley of Darlington.

William Slade of Ellwood City.

Grayn Denny of Beaver Falls R. D. 1.

Secretary Martin said that departmental investigation will continue in connection with others named in the Smith report.

The first dismissal came after Smith charged that Neff planned and operated a systematic kickback plan to accumulate political funds.

Neff was removed from his $12,500 a year job as manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, and retaliated by filing criminal libel charges against the auditor general.

Robert Yoho, a political lieutenant of Neff's, also employed in Harrisburg at $6,300 a year, then was fired for his alleged part in the Beaver County deal. Yoho also filed libel charges against Smith.

same party on a single line in general elections, instead of rotating names. There wasn't a single vote to spare as the House passed the measure with a bare constitutional majority, 70-59.

But the House defeated a Senate-approved bill to extend the present two-year registration of voters to four years and permit re-registration by mail.

Extend poll closing hours from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Cuyahoga, Hamilton, Franklin, Lucas, Summit, and Montgomery counties. The Senate has approved it.

Require door-to-door registration of voters in all cities of 16,000 or more population.

Again without a vote to spare, the House approved Senate changes in an administration bill to enlarge the Pardon and Parole Commission from three to five members with $12,000 annual salaries. The act also establishes a probation-parole bureau in the Division of Correction.

But the House refused to accept Senate amendments to two other measures and started them toward Senate-House conference committees:

Needing 70 votes for approval, a bill to ban motor scooter licenses for 14 and 15-year-olds got only 65 votes for concurrence in Senate amendments. Opponents said the Senate eliminated financial responsibility for scooter operators under 16.

Senate amendments were rejected on an emergency bill to eliminate the present law's requirement that state weights and measures equipment be housed in Columbus. Backers of the bill want the equipment moved to a Department of Agriculture laboratory near suburban Reynoldsburg.

The Senate, after long debate, finally passed and sent to the House a bill requiring local school boards, if requested by parents of at least eight pupils, to apply to the State Board of Education for permission to set up special classes for slow learners.

A companion measure passed and sent to the House provides for education and training of mentally retarded persons above the age of 21.

The Senate also sent to the House by unanimous vote a bill to create a commission to give an 18-month study to the possibility of creating an Ohio educational television network.

Starr also is wanted in Beaver Falls for a $370 railroad station holdup and at Sewickley for failing to return a rented car to an agency.

His arrest followed a wreck in East Liverpool Jan. 25 in which he smashed the rented car into a utility pole on St. Clair Ave. and Grant St.

At the time, officers here had the auto towed away and asked Starr to go to headquarters to help make out the report of the accident. They became suspicious when they learned that the auto had been rented and that Starr was carrying an application for an Ohio driver's license, although he gave a home address in Philadelphia.

A second search of the auto turned up a receipt showing he had purchased a .38-caliber revolver a few days earlier in Columbus. Checking the prisoner, officers found the weapon in his hip pocket. The investigation was pushed further when officers noted he fitted the description of the man who held up the Salem railway station five days earlier.

Meanwhile, Beaver Falls authorities entered the case, suspecting Starr of the $370 holdup of the 11th St. Station there. He was identified here Jan. 25 by Agent Howard F. Williamson, 59, of Emsworth, as the man who robbed him Jan. 7.

Starr was taken to Salem, where Agent James Warrington identified him as the robber. He was bound over to the Grand Jury in Municipal Court on the concealed weapons charge, then taken to Salem for arraignment on the holdup count.

Authorities said Starr resided in East Palestine 10 or 12 years ago and was sentenced from there to the Mansfield Reformatory as a juvenile offender.

In 1954, he was working on a City Hospital construction job when East Liverpool police took him into custody for Pittsburgh authorities on a bad check charge. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

Starr's trial was the last criminal case pending from the regular April term of court, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said. Arraignment is scheduled Wednesday, July 1, at 9 a. m. for six persons indicted by the recalled Grand Jury.

men, pending departmental hearings on charges brought by Auditor General Smith. They were:

Lester Beighley of Darlington.

William Slade of Ellwood City.

Grayn Denny of Beaver Falls R. D. 1.

Secretary Martin said that departmental investigation will continue in connection with others named in the Smith report.

The first dismissal came after Smith charged that Neff planned and operated a systematic kickback plan to accumulate political funds.

Neff was removed from his $12,500 a year job as manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, and retaliated by filing criminal libel charges against the auditor general.

Robert Yoho, a political lieutenant of Neff's, also employed in Harrisburg at $6,300 a year, then was fired for his alleged part in the Beaver County deal. Yoho also filed libel charges against Smith.

have a following auto hit his car and a third auto hit the second.

David Buckholdt, 17, stopped his car, which was rammed by one driven by Roy Puffer, 55, of Youngstown, which was struck by a car operated by Martha Achor, 21, of Vandalia.

Buckholdt said he saw the hen and chicks along the road and slowed down because his father told him a flying pheasant, hitting a windshield, could cause damage and injury.

When the feathered family began to cross the road, the youth suddenly stopped. Puffer and the woman were both cited for failure to halt in the assured clear distance.

Ronald Bell, 35, of Salem narrowly missed injury when his car swerved off a curve on Route 30 at Rock Camp and slammed into guardrails above a steep 100-foot embankment at 6:50 p. m., officers said.

Bell was charged with driving while intoxicated. His car received heavy damage on the left side. The patrol said the guardrails prevented the car from plummeting down the embankment where two men were killed in October as their car plunged from the road.

Lloyd Armstrong, 44, of 188 Beechwood Ave. was cited after his car, passing a pickup truck on Route 7 near Brookside yesterday morning, forced the truck off the road.

Officers said Armstrong, headed north, attempted to pass the truck without the assured clear distance, and when faced by an oncoming vehicle, cut back into the northbound lane too sharply, forcing the truck driver — Richard Curran, 37, of R. D. 1 — to swerve into a ditch.

Realism, Good Faith Seen Labor Bargaining Factors

Realistic goals and bargaining in good faith make for successful contract negotiations between management and union, an official of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. told the Rotary Club Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel.

William E. Hoare of Columbus, employes relations director of the utility, declared both sides should "steer clear of short-range goals at the negotiation table and never demand what they cannot expect to get."

He explained that management's two basic goals are to have its investment secure and to run a profitable business, while labor's idea is to obtain a job and economic security.

"These points should go down the road together," he pointed out, and "should work inside the contract."

Hoare said he believes that the level of bargaining is on the upswing with more peaceful bargaining sessions being recorded than in the past. He contributed this to the union's bid to elevate the educational standards of its men and the ejection of the union idea of "a pounding-on-the-table attitude."

He urged that management come to the bargain table fully prepared for contract negotiations and with the full support of the firm, but warned that "there is no blueprint for proper negotiations."

"Unions are becoming more and more comfortable," he said, "and they are dangerously close to out-generaling management."

Hoare was introduced by Joseph Ross, program chairman. Guests of William McIntyre, manager of the Ohio Valley Fuel Gas Co., included Steve Day, Harold Lowman, Don Miller and Ken Marsh.

Other guests included George VanHorne, executive head of the Beaver Local School District, Lt. (j.g.) Dan Cooper of the Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, five from Midland and others from Beaver Falls and Charleston, S. C.

Texas Firm Buys Terminal

A Houston (Tex.) firm has bought into the Greenville Towing Co. of Greenville, Miss., operators of the Mississippi-Ohio Oil Terminal of the River Rd.

Involved in the transaction were two motor vessels — the Ben McCool built in 1955 and the Walter Williamson built in 1957 — several barges and the oil terminal here.

Earl Boog of Columbus, manager of the terminal, said no changes in name or operating procedures are contemplated. The terminal serves as a transhipment point for oil from barges to tank trucks for the Youngstown area.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Seven years ago I met a man through the legal department where I worked. He had been in prison and told me all about it. I had confidence in him and knew he'd never again break the law.

We married after a two-year courtship. He has an excellent position and I'm very proud of him.

Last year we bought a beautiful little home and took an 11-year-old boy to live with us. The child is a distant relative who was left homeless when his widowed mother passed away. Both my husband and I love this child as if he were born to us.

Three weeks ago the boy came home from school in tears. Someone said to him, "You can't be much good. Your father is a jailbird." Now the boy doesn't want to return to this school in the fall.

Should we sell our lovely home and move elsewhere? Did we make a mistake by taking him to live with us? Both my husband and I are considering giving the child up to save him future humiliation. Please advise us.—NO NAME, OF COURSE.

Dear No Name: Don't move and don't give up the boy. The love you give him outweighs the small, cruel insults.

If you haven't sat down with this youngster and explained in detail the past history of his stepfather, by all means do so. Point out that he has paid his debt to society and he deserves credit for succeeding in spite of a bad beginning.

Moving will solve nothing. Unfortunately, your husband will take his past with him—forever. In the most remote corner of the globe someone who knew him "when" could pop up. His record is part of his life—so be realistic and stop running. Learn how to live with it.

Wife And Other

Dear Ann: I've been brooding about this and decided to write to you and get your views.

My husband didn't buy me anything on Mother's Day. We have four children under 5 years of age. Don't you think it would have been nice if he had bought me a little something in their name? After all they are too young to know about such things.

I felt very bad when I went to his mother's house for dinner and saw the lovely flowers he had sent her. And then when she showed me the new set of dishes, also from him, I had all I could do to keep from bursting out in tears.

On the way home I brought up the subject and said I was hurt. He said, "Why should I buy YOU anything for Mother's Day? You aren't my mother, you're my wife."

Dear Left Out: Of course you aren't his mother but you're the mother of his four children. This is reason enough to be remembered with s small gift on Mother's Day.

American Plan

Dear Ann: My girl and I plan to get married in September. I talked to her folks about the wedding last night and I got the shock of my life. People of their nationality run weddings different from Americans. They tell me I have to pay for everything.

I don't have the money to put on a wedding and I wouldn't think of asking my folks to pay for it. I'm 23 and have some money saved but it's for furniture and a week's honeymoon. I still owe on my car and the rings and I don't see how I can manage the cost of a wedding, too.

What do you suggest?—RALPH.

Dear Ralph: Tell your future father-in-law that since you live in America you are living on the American plan. In this country the bride's folks pay for the wedding.

If he can't afford much, explain you'll settle for the kind of wedding that fits his purse.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long's Hopes Brightened By Wife's Action

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Mrs. Earl Long's decision to leave Louisiana for an extended rest today skyrocketed Gov. Long's hopes for victory Friday in his court battle for freedom from a state mental hospital.

Long's chief attorney, Joe Arthur Sims, said the latest development made the governor's release certain.

Sims broke the news of Mrs. Long's departure Tuesday night. He said he didn't know her destination, but she had been planning to go away since Sunday.

She had not disclosed any plans to oppose the habeas corpus proceedings, scheduled for 10 a. m. Friday at Covington. And, there has been no word of opposition from Sen. Russell Long (D-La) or administration leaders.

At Sims' request, court authorities issued subpoenas Tuesday for Mrs. Long and 15 others wanted as witnesses, Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar, who has been reluctant to take over as governor, was among those subpoenaed.

Mrs. Long has been a key figure in the case from the start. She signed the request for her husband's confinement earlier to a mental hospital in Galveston, Tex. Last Thursday, she asked for his commitment to the Southeast Louisiana (mental) Hospital at Mandeville.

Dist. Atty. James T. Burns of Covington, said so far as he knew, the hearing will be held as scheduled.

One of Sims' chief contentions in the application for the hearing Friday was that Long was not given the type examination required by state law before being confined to the hospital at Mandeville.

Doctor, Patient Meet Again After 4 Years

HONOLULU (AP) — Four years ago, William Drury lived in Singapore, was troubled by sinus and went for treatment to Dr. John Watson.

Since then, Drury has gone to London, Trinidad, Nassau, back to Singapore, back to London, then to Chicago and finally arrived in Honolulu, where he is now columnist for the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Recently, his sinus bothering him again, Drury visited a medical center here and asked for a nose and throat specialist. He was referred to Dr. John Watson, the same doctor who treated him in Singapore four years earlier.

Has Weed Fighter

GORDONSVILLE, Va. (AP)—Richard Davis says he has found the solution to the weed problem in his vegetable garden. He covers the garden with plastic with a tiny hole cut for each vegetable. Putting it between rows as do commercial growers leaves too much space for weeds, Davis says. Furthermore, his method causes his vegetables to be well watered.

After working in the bar mill, coke plant and in the chemical laboratory, he was assigned to the blast furnace department in 1925 and held several jobs. In 1943, he was appointed superintendent, serving until 1958 when he was given the special assignment.

Ike Requests Arms Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for permanent authorization for arms aid to America's allies, with actual funds to be included hereafter in the regular U.S. defense budget.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Much Action, Few Changes

In "No Leave for the Captain," on the U.S. Steel Hour last week, Maurice Evans played the part of a British Army captain, fogged with drink, who had been accused unjustly of desertion at Dunkirk ("The charges were dropped but he will never forget they were made")' who has taken refuge in an engineer corps outfit, whose job is to disarm enemy mines, a risky business.

John Crosby

Rarely since "Journey's End" have I seen so much British stiff upper lip. Evans has a son who is convinced his father was a coward, and he, too, undoes mines to atone for his daddy's sins. And the son has a wife who sits home and suffers while her husband is undoing mines.

IT WAS a juicy part for Evans. "You don't like me, do you, Sergeant?" he cries. "But that's all right, because I don't like myself. I have been in the sacred British Army for 31 years and I have just discovered I am not cut out to be an officer.

"My son's going to die and there's not a bloody thing I can do for my son or for my country or for myself."

The next thing you know, he's unscrewing a mine and talking his craven son, connected to him by telephone at another mine, into a display of courage, and finally the captain perishes heroically, if against orders.

It was all terribly "Journey's End," and it all sounded like something out of World War I. I must admit that the bit about unscrewing the mines — not one but two mines — was mighty tense, if that sort of thing interests you.

LIKE ALL of the dramas on the U.S. Steel Hour these days, the problems under scrutiny seem to be somebody else's problems, remote as the moon from my life, which is why I have trouble getting interested in them.

The U.S. Steel Hour would like to be taken seriously as a dramatic program but, at the same time, it doesn't want to offend anyone, and all of its dramas seem to have been sterilized in boiling water to kill the germs — and also any real dramatic interest.

If they wanted real chiller stuff, they should cast out the pretense of serious drama and play a different set of rules. The trouble is that this drama fell in between two schools.

I think if the U.S. Steel Hour is ever to regain its prestige, it must take some chances. It cannot come out ringingly against slavery because that battle was won a long time ago. The program has got to stick its neck out a little bit, step on a few toes, pick a drama that breaks a few taboos, instead of abiding by all of them.

NORMALLY my pet dramatic program is "Playhouse 90," but it has been a sorry disappointment since I've been back from vacation.

A week or so ago it was Mussolini's end which was made into a very dull finish. Last week it was an English-made film called "As Dark as the Night," which was as confusing a bit of malarkey as anything I've ever seen on "Playhouse 90."

To start out with there seemed to be about five times as much plot as 90 minutes really needs. There was a British politician running for office (Michael Wilding), whose wife (Laraine Day) was about to leave him, a chauffeur (Michael Hordern) who has trained his girl (Sheila Allen) to steal for him, an unscrupulous journalist (Dennis Price), who misunderstands all the foregoing and goodness knows what else.

Just to make things harder—at least for me who has terrible trouble understanding any English that deviates very far from the way they talk in Oconomowoc, Wis. — there was a gaggle of accent that ranged from Cockney to veddy soddy Upper Cless that confused me.

THERE WAS a tremendous amount of driving off into the night in Rolls Royces (once around the Marble Arch and then the cars disappear into the fog).

At one point, Laraine Day got trapped by Teddy Boys in what looked like a sewer for reasons that remain pretty obscure to this very day.

As an actress, I think Laraine Day is a very wholesome girl and she exudes a nice, well-scrubbed look — but very little else, particularly in scenes where she is supposed to be terrified.

The trouble is there were a good many scenes that should have been marvelously taut and meaningful and suspenseful, but weren't because the piece as a whole was not well put together.

Actually, cities at night are pretty interesting spots and I had high hopes for this drama. It was a severe disappointment.

Federalist Party Paces Voting For Ohio's Girls State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Federalist Party took a near sweep of the six major state offices at Buckeye Girls State, including the post of governor, won by a 17-year-old Cincinnati area girl.

Barbara Cade of Mariemont was elected governor and four fellow Federalists also won top offices in Tuesday's balloting at the mythical state. The nine-day exercise in self-government for 859 high school girls is being conducted on the Capital University campus here.

The only post won by the Nationalist party was secretary of state. Patti Ann Ensign of Springfield was elected to the office.

Girl staters elected Toni Welsch of Marysville as lieutenant governor; Penny Blackford, Martins Ferry, auditor; Nancy Knapp, Columbus, treasurer; and Robin Diller, Toledo, attorney general.

The Federalists also gained a slim majority in the House of Representatives, 37-35. In the Senate, however, the Nationalists won control, 21-15.

Thursday night, at the inauguration banquet, Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court will swear in the girls state officers.

The governor of the recently adjourned Buckeye Boys State, Gary Richetto of Warren, will extend greetings to the girls, and Ohio's Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey will address them.

Administrators, legislators and judges assume their duties today as the 13th annual Girls State moves into high gear. The exercise, sponsored by the Ohio American Legion Auxiliary, ends Sunday.

Driving Thrill Show To Be Given Thursday

An auto thrill show, featuring a car shot from a 10-ton cannon, and jumps, crash roll-overs and spins, will be presented at the Columbiana County Fairgrounds Thursday night at 8:15 by the County Fair Board.

Staged by the "All - America Daredevils," the show will include the cannon act with Luckey Maynard driving the auto in 80-foot shot, Stoney Roberts — a one-armed driver — in many feats and other acts with cars and motorcycles.

Proceeds will be used for improvements at the fairgrounds, Galen Greenisen of the Fair Board said.

Hammondsville Legion Will Sponsor Auction

HAMMONDSVILLE — American Legion Post 742 will sponsor a community auction Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the post home, with proceeds to be used for child welfare activities.

Residents wishing to contribute articles for the auction may contact Legion members for pick-up arrangements. Used furniture, household articles and tools will be sold. Refreshments will be served by the auxiliary.

'Sobering' Thoughts Are Offered On Drunks

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP)— An authority on alcoholic studies says pouring black coffee into an intoxicated person or making him jog around the block won't sober him up.

"All that happens is that you have a wide awake drunk on your hands, instead of a sleepy one," said Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, director of the Yale Center of Alcoholic Studies.

He spoke at a meeting of the Maine Medical Assn.

Underground Water Shown

The availability of underground water supplies in Columbiana County and the surrounding area and in other sections of Ohio is shown on three maps released Monday by the Ohio Division of Water at Columbus.

Two of the maps, prepared by J. J. Schmidt, a division geologist, embrace the area of Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Harrison and Mahoning Counties. They describe the well water available in Little Beaver Creek, Yellow Creek, Cross Creek and McIntyre Creek Basins.

The maps also record 2,700 wells drilled in this area. According to Schmidt, ground water supplies for industrial development are confined to the relatively limited flood plain of the Ohio River. Wells drilled into these deposits may yield large industrial and municipal water supplies by induced infiltration from the river.

All maps indicate which area are suitable for industrial or domestic water supplies and in which areas adequate supplies are available.

Copies may be obtained free by writing to the Ohio Division of Water, 1562 W. 1st Ave., Columbus, 12, Ohio.

The other map is of the Tuscarawas River basin and shows the quantity and quality of well water available in portions of Summit, Wayne, Medina, Stark and Portage Counties.

Shooting Of Performer Ruled As 'Accidental'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The fatal shooting of a woman performer in a Wild West act by a 9-year-old New Kensington boy June 7 has been ruled accidental by an Allegheny County coroner's jury.

The jury returned the verdict Tuesday after an inquest. Frank Monaco, who accidently fired the fatal shot, did not testify.

According to testimony, the boy picked up a rifle that had just been loaded for a trick shooting show at Pittsburgh's bicentennial exposition in Point Park.

18 Arrests Are Made In Raid At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Four men were charged with operating a gambling house Tuesday after a police raid at the Royal Hunting and Fishing Club in Pittsburgh's Strip District.

They are John Sicco, 40, of Baldwin Borough, and Frank Halama, 40, Carl DeBasi, 48, and Leonard DeCosmo, 30, all of Pittsburgh. DeCosmo is steward of the club.

The raiders, led by acting Lt. John James, arrested 18 men and confiscated $3,400 in cash and checks.

The four accused as operators were released on $1,000 bond each for a hearing today. Fourteen men charged as visitors were released on $10 forfeits.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Much Action, Few Changes

In "No Leave for the Captain," on the U.S. Steel Hour last week, Maurice Evans played the part of a British Army captain, fogged with drink, who had been accused unjustly of desertion at Dunkirk ("The charges were dropped but he will never forget they were made")' who has taken refuge in an engineer corps outfit, whose job is to disarm enemy mines, a risky business.

John Crosby

Rarely since "Journey's End" have I seen so much British stiff upper lip. Evans has a son who is convinced his father was a coward, and he, too, undoes mines to atone for his daddy's sins. And the son has a wife who sits home and suffers while her husband is undoing mines.

IT WAS a juicy part for Evans. "You don't like me, do you, Sergeant?" he cries. "But that's all right, because I don't like myself. I have been in the sacred British Army for 31 years and I have just discovered I am not cut out to be an officer.

"My son's going to die and there's not a bloody thing I can do for my son or for my country or for myself."

The next thing you know, he's unscrewing a mine and talking his craven son, connected to him by telephone at another mine, into a display of courage, and finally the captain perishes heroically, if against orders.

It was all terribly "Journey's End," and it all sounded like something out of World War I. I must admit that the bit about unscrewing the mines — not one but two mines — was mighty tense, if that sort of thing interests you.

LIKE ALL of the dramas on the U.S. Steel Hour these days, the problems under scrutiny seem to be somebody else's problems, remote as the moon from my life, which is why I have trouble getting interested in them.

The U.S. Steel Hour would like to be taken seriously as a dramatic program but, at the same time, it doesn't want to offend anyone, and all of its dramas seem to have been sterilized in boiling water to kill the germs — and also any real dramatic interest.

If they wanted real chiller stuff, they should cast out the pretense of serious drama and play a different set of rules. The trouble is that this drama fell in between two schools.

I think if the U.S. Steel Hour is ever to regain its prestige, it must take some chances. It cannot come out ringingly against slavery because that battle was won a long time ago. The program has got to stick its neck out a little bit, step on a few toes, pick a drama that breaks a few taboos, instead of abiding by all of them.

NORMALLY my pet dramatic program is "Playhouse 90," but it has been a sorry disappointment since I've been back from vacation.

Driving Thrill Show To Be Given Thursday

An auto thrill show, featuring a car shot from a 10-ton cannon, and jumps, crash roll-overs and spins, will be presented at the Columbiana County Fairgrounds Thursday night at 8:15 by the County Fair Board.

Staged by the "All - America Daredevils," the show will include the cannon act with Luckey Maynard driving the auto in 80-foot shot, Stoney Roberts — a one-armed driver — in many feats and other acts with cars and motorcycles.

Proceeds will be used for improvements at the fairgrounds, Galen Greenisen of the Fair Board said.

Hammondsville Legion Will Sponsor Auction

HAMMONDSVILLE — American Legion Post 742 will sponsor a community auction Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the post home, with proceeds to be used for child welfare activities.

Residents wishing to contribute articles for the auction may contact Legion members for pick-up arrangements. Used furniture, household articles and tools will be sold. Refreshments will be served by the auxiliary.

'Sobering' Thoughts Are Offered On Drunks

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP)— An authority on alcoholic studies says pouring black coffee into an intoxicated person or making him jog around the block won't sober him up.

"All that happens is that you have a wide awake drunk on your hands, instead of a sleepy one," said Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, director of the Yale Center of Alcoholic Studies.

He spoke at a meeting of the Maine Medical Assn.

Underground Water Shown

The availability of underground water supplies in Columbiana County and the surrounding area and in other sections of Ohio is shown on three maps released Monday by the Ohio Division of Water at Columbus.

Two of the maps, prepared by J. J. Schmidt, a division geologist, embrace the area of Columbiana, Jefferson, Carroll, Harrison and Mahoning Counties. They describe the well water available in Little Beaver Creek, Yellow Creek, Cross Creek and McIntyre Creek Basins.

The maps also record 2,700 wells drilled in this area. According to Schmidt, ground water supplies for industrial development are confined to the relatively limited flood plain of the Ohio River. Wells drilled into these deposits may yield large industrial and municipal water supplies by induced infiltration from the river.

All maps indicate which area are suitable for industrial or domestic water supplies and in which areas adequate supplies are available.

Copies may be obtained free by writing to the Ohio Division of Water, 1562 W. 1st Ave., Columbus, 12, Ohio.

The other map is of the Tuscarawas River basin and shows the quantity and quality of well water available in portions of Summit, Wayne, Medina, Stark and Portage Counties.

Shooting Of Performer Ruled As 'Accidental'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The fatal shooting of a woman performer in a Wild West act by a 9-year-old New Kensington boy June 7 has been ruled accidental by an Allegheny County coroner's jury.

The jury returned the verdict Tuesday after an inquest. Frank Monaco, who accidently fired the fatal shot, did not testify.

According to testimony, the boy picked up a rifle that had just been loaded for a trick shooting show at Pittsburgh's bicentennial exposition in Point Park.

Invasion Force Wiped Out, Dominican Republic Says

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Trujillo government claims it has wiped out a Cuban-supported invasion force near the Dominican Republic's north coast and killed its leader.

An announcement said Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, 68, who has ruled this country for 29 years, directed land, air and sea operations against the invaders last week in the Constanza area 180 miles northwest of Ciudad Trujillo.

It was the first official confirmation of reports from Dominican exiles in Cuba and Venezuela that an invasion force had landed last week. But the versions of the government and the exiles differed widely.

The government announcement said Capt. Enrique Jimenez Moya, described by the exiles as the expedition leader, was killed as he tried to escape. It identified six other bodies among the rebel dead, but did not list the total casualties or the size of the invasion force.

Reliable informants in the Haitian capital of Port-au-Prince said the landing was made Saturday by a force of about 600. They said Dominican forces apparently gained the upper hand after 48 hours of bloody fighting.

Rebel sources in Havana discounted Dominican reports that Trujillo's forces had killed Jimenez Moya and other rebel leaders. They said that, with the exception of Jimenez Moya, none of those reported dead were in the Constanza area.

Royal Guests Thrill Quebec

QUEBEC (AP)—It was a big, busy, glittering, heart-warming day in Quebec for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

And Quebec's French-speaking citizens are still thrilled today after the royal couple's visit to the charming old capital of French Canada:

Standing upright in a jeep and holding a guardrail, Elizabeth inspected an infantry regiment of which she is colonel in chief.

Aboard the Britannia the royal couple received over 400 newsmen and photographers who are covering their tour of Canada and then stood chatting easily like a host and hostess at any cocktail party.

The Queen and Philip were guests at a state dinner which will be remembered as one of the most brilliant pageants in the long history of this ancient city.

In a jam-packed program that lasted 13 hours—from morning until nearly midnight—Elizabeth and Philip touched off an explosion of excitement and acclaim that filled the streets with cheering crowds.

It was the biggest day so far of their Canadian trip, now nearly one week along.

They sailed along the St. Lawrence today for Trois Rivigres and Montreal. The meeting with President Eisenhower and the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway comes Friday.

At the reception aboard the yacht, Philip candidly discussed stories that he has been rough on photographers.

"I have a reputation for being nasty to photographers," he said. "I am bloody nasty to a photographer who pokes a long lens through the keyhole into my private life. I'll never be rude to a photographer who is doing his job, but I will be if my privacy is invaded."

The Queen has an electric personality, quite different from her cautiously decorous public appearance. Her blue eyes light up. She is vivacious. She smiles frequently and her speaking voice—which has been criticized in Britain as "schoolgirlish" — becomes crisply incisive.

In a word she is charming.

City officials have been invited to ride in convertibles at the head of the parade. The Wellsville High School Band will be the leading musical unit.

The drill teams of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 66 and American Legion Post 374, both of East Liverpool, and the 40 & 8 Society have been invited.

Prizes will include $50 each for the best senior drum and bugle corps, best senior band and best girls' drum and bugle corps; $35, best junior mixed drum and bugle corps; $20, best drill squad of all groups, and $10 each for the best fire apparatus, pumper and equipment, best squad truck, unit traveling farthest distance, best comic outfit and most uniformed men in line.

A children's matinee will be held at the carnival Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5, Phillips said.

Police Chief John Hephner will be in charge of handling traffic. The State Highway Patrol and Columbiana County sheriff's department will assist.

Burson Closes 45-Year Career At Knowles Firm

The Edwin M. Knowles China Co. today announced the retirement of Harrison R. Burson, purchasing agent and a 45-year veteran with the dinnerware plant, and the appointment of Joseph W. Chetwynd as his successor.

Burson became a Knowles employe April 20, 1914, shortly after the present plant was completed. He performed many duties during his employment. Early in his career, he was in charge of the warehouse and shipping at both the Newell and Chester plants. The Chester plant now is occupied by the Harker Pottery Co.

During World War I he also was in charge of production. In 1921, he became purchasing agent and continued to supervise production control. From 1930 to 1935, he was assistant plant manager.

Burson, married to the former Frances R. Wolfe of Charleston, has 6 children and 12 grandchildren. They reside at 427 Jefferson St., Newell.

Chetwynd joined Knowles in 1948 as an engineer. In 1950, he left for a similar post with the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. He rejoined Knowles early this year.

Chetwynd was born in East Liverpool and educated in local schools. In 1942, he was married to the former Elizabeth Miller. He served in the Army from 1942 to 1945. Mr. and Mrs. Chetwynd and their two daughters reside at 1321 St. Clair Ave.

Aide Testifies Before Committee

Economy Angle Stressed In DiSalle Reorganization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's administrative assistant says the governor's request for power to reorganize state government would lead to much-needed economy.

Rankin Gibson, the governor's aide, made that assertion Tuesday night as sole witness testifying for the administration's reorganization bill at the Senate State Government Committee's first hearing.

The measure provides for the governor to lay before the Legislature his plans to consolidate, transfer, co-ordinate or abolish departments and agencies, except legislative and judicial and the state universities.

Unless both the House and Senate disapproved the plans within 60 days, they would become effective 90 days after the Legislature took final adjournment. The 90-day wait would afford time for a referendum, Gibson explained.

Gibson said the Democrat-controlled Legislature has "done a fine job" of getting more tax money for services DiSalle says the state needs.

"Another big thing the people of the state of Ohio have been asking for," Gibson told the committee, "is the best service, the best government for their money.

"The people are entitled to know that these things are administered in the most economical way. For that very purpose, this bill is being introduced."

Reorganization plans taking effect would provide for "the transfer or other disposition of personnel, records, files and property" or the closing of agencies.

But the governor could not continue functions or terms of office beyond those provided by law.

Thomas G. O'Keefe of the Ohio Education Assn. suggested informally that further exemptions from reorganization should be provided. He said those exemptions should include the State Board of Education and boards of the public employes, teachers and school employes retirement funds.

Opponents of the reorganization proposal will have a chance to testify at another hearing soon, but no date has been set.

Critics have asserted the proposal would go against the constitution by giving the governor virtual law-making powers vested in the Legislature. They expressed concern lest approval permit DiSalle also to make changes in offices of various elected executive state officials.

Man Wounds Estranged Wife And Kills Self On Busy Street

CHARLESTON (AP) — A man critically wounded his estranged wife Tuesday and then killed himself here on a busy downtown street.

Described by his boss as a quiet, courteous man, Ray Spradlin, 41, fired three shots at his wife. He watched her fall, looked at her a moment and then put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Louise Spradlin, 26, of nearby Malden, was hit by all three shots, two of them in the head, it was reported at the hospital where she was taken.

The shooting on heavily-traveled Lee St. at the beginning of the evening rush hour caused a near-traffic jam.

At least two passers-by witnessed the incident. One witness, Jay DeVore of Charleston, said he was standing across the street when he heard Mrs. Spradlin scream.

"I turned around and saw that he had her by one arm. I saw him put the gun to her head and start shooting. She was screaming, "No! No!"

Spradlin was a maintenance worker at a municipal swimming pool.

Detective Robert Crouse, who questioned Mrs. Spradlin at the hospital, said she told him she and her husband had been separated about seven months.

Spradlin stopped as she left a downtown bank where she is employed and asked her to drive him home, she related.

She said she refused and that they had a brief argument. She left him, she said, and went to a stamp redemption store. He was waiting at the door when she left the store.

"He asked me again to drive him home," Mrs. Spradlin said. "I told him no, the only thing I wanted him to do was to leave me alone.

"He said, 'Well in that case I'll just end it all.'

"Then he drew the gun and grabbed me and started shooting."

Her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, said the surgery was of a corrective nature.

After 9 Years In Prison

Bear No Grudge, Fuchs Points Out

BERLIN (AP) — Klaus Fuchs disappeared behind the Iron Curtain Tuesday night saying he bears no grudge against the British for his nine years in prison as an atom spy.

The German-born scientist was hustled out of England after his release from a 14-year sentence for handing secrets of the atomic bomb to the Soviet Union. He had been stripped of his naturalized British citizenship upon his conviction, and the British government did not try to prevent him from joining his father in Communist East Germany.

Newsmen were barred from speaking to Fuchs during his last hours in England. But several booked seats aboard the Polish airliner that flew him to Germany and reported their interviews with him today.

"I wish to say that I bear no resentment whatever against Britain or any of the Western countries for what has happened," the 47-year-old physicist said.

"I would also say that I am pleased to be going to the (East) German Democratic Republic. But about my future plans I have made no definite arrangements."

He would only say he is rejoining his father, Dr. Emil Fuchs, a professor of theology in Leipzig.

Fuchs worked with British and American scientists on the development of the atomic bomb and at the time of his arrest was chief of theoretical physics at Britain's Harwell nuclear research establishment.

Asked what he thought about East-West political conflicts, Fuchs said? "The trouble arises when people begin to believe lies of their own making."

Newsmen pressed him to elaborate but he declined.

Initiation of first degree candidates highlighted the meeting of Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday night at the K. of C. Home. James McGowan, district deputy, was in charge.

Business was conducted by James Buchheit, grand knight, and tentative plans were made for the annual field Mass and family picnic at Thompson Park Aug. 9. Fr. Thomas Mulhearn, council chaplain, will be chairman.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night at 8.

Cumberland Council To Name Committees

NEW CUMBERLAND—Administrative committees for the new year, which begins July 1, will be appointed when Town Council meets Tuesday night at 7:30. Mayor Albert (Jakie) Fuccy will preside.

Mayor Fuccy said today that Jacob Baxter, a Hancock County sheriff's deputy and new councilman elected this month, has been sworn in as constable due to an injury to Joseph Manypenny.

Manypenny was injured in a fall last week at the Hancock County Courthouse and was granted a 60-day leave of absence. Jim Knox also aids in the town's police work.

Mishap Involving Car Hurts North Side Child

A 6-year-old North Side youngster suffered a bruised knee Tuesday night at 7 in a mishap involving an auto on Orchard Grove Ave., but investigation has failed to disclose whether the child ran into the side of the car or fell while attempting to avoid it.

The mishap involved a 1953 sedan driven by Mrs. Joan Marie Burlingame, 19, of Calcutta, and the young pedestrian, David Emmerling, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Alan Emmerling, 1333 Fairmont St. The motorist told police she saw the child step off the curb, so she halted her car. She said she does not believe he ran into the car.

Girl Burned By Gas Oven

A Newell girl burned when a gas oven flared and a city boy injured playing baseball were among eight adults and youngsters treated at City Hospital Tuesday following separate mishaps.

Nicholas Marchbanks, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Marchbanks, 1630 Globe St., received an injury of a finger of the right hand when struck by a ball in a Little League game.

A fish hook was removed from the leg of Mrs. Ruth Cochran, rear 1027 Huston Ave. The hook, lying on the ground in a strawberry patch, became embedded as she was picking berries.

Nick Tonti, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Tonti of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1, suffered a fractured wrist while wrestling.

Terry Robinson, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson, 1018 Washington St., Newell, was treated for a puncture wound of the right foot received when he stopped on a nail.

Ray Watson of Rogers R. D., a butcher at the City Market, received a laceration of the thumb while cutting meat with an electric saw.

Edward Carr, 33, of W. 9th St. was treated for a finger injury suffered Monday when his hand became caught between a lift and some lumber while at work at the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co.

Pittsburgh Trips Giants, 5-1, As Law Hurls Third Straight

Braves Defeat Cardinals To Protect Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's kept Pittsburgh's Pirates so close to the National League lead? The answer is the pitching of Vern Law and Roy Face, a starter-reliever pair who have put away more than half of the Bucs' victories.

Law and Face were the only winners when the Pirates lost seven of their first nine games and plunged to the cellar. Now Law, ace of the starters with an 8-4 record, and Face, the majors' top winner at 11-0, have won 19 between them and the Bucs hold fourth place with a 37-33 record.

Law, 29, a right-hander who's been around since 1950, put away his third in a row Tuesday night, keeping the Pirates within 3½ games of first place with a six-hit, 5-1 victory over San Francisco. That made Law the first NL pitcher to beat every other club this season.

The defeat once against dropped the second place Giants two games behind the league leading Milwaukee Braves, who whipped St. Louis 9-5. Third place Los Angeles stayed a half-game ahead of Pittsburgh by beating Philadelphia 4-3. The Chicago Cubs defeated Cincinnati 3-1.

Law missed a second consecutive shutout when a walk and Jackie Brandt's double gave the Giants a fourth-inning run. The big right-hander battled in two of the Bucs' first three runs. Dick Stuart hit his 14th homer and had four of the Pirates' 15 hits.

Sam Jones (8-7) was the loser, giving up 10 hits and three runs in his first start since pitching the Giants into their short stay in first place last Friday night.

Del Crandall drove in four runs for the Braves, breaking a 3-3 tie with a one-on homer, his 12th, in the fifth inning against loser Hal Jeffcoat. Wes Covington, who drove in a pair of runs, followed Crandall's shot with his fifth homer. Carl Willey (3-1) was the winner, giving up 10 hits but gaining a complete game in his first start since May 29. Ken Boyer hit a two-run homer for the Cards, who lost starter Alex Kellner when he hurt his elbow pitching in the first inning.

Home runs by Junior Gilliam, Gil Hodges and Don Demeter got the job done for the Dodgers, who had only two other hits off loser Gene Conley (4-4). Danny McDevitt (6-6) was the winner.

Demeter and Hodges homered in a deciding, three-run fourth, with Hodges' tying Hank Greenberg for 11th place on the all-time major league list at 331. It was his 11th of the season and followed a double by Wally Moon, who now has hit in 16 consecutive games.

Lee Walls doubled home a run in the first inning, then added an RBI single in a two-run, wrap-up fifth for the Cubs against loser Joe Nuxhall (3-6). Glen Hobbie (7-6) was the winner, giving up eight hits, but blanking the Reds after they scored in the first inning.

Houston Golfers Set Fast Pace In Collegiate Action

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Bob Pratt and Jack Cupit led a record breaking Houston University team into match play in the National Collegiate Golf tournament today.

Both Pratt and Cupit tied the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. record for qualifying play Tuesday as they wound up two days of play on the Eugene Country Club course with 136 strokes each, 6 under par on the 37-34—71 course.

Pratt had rounds of 66 and 70, Cupit 69 and 67. The record is shared with Don Albert of Purdue, who set it in 1954, and John Pott, of Louisiana State, who tied it in 1955.

Houston smashed the team record in carrying off the team title a fourth consecutive year. The record was 570 strokes by four players set by Houston last year. Now the mark is 561.

In eight attempts, Jockey Earl Sande won the Preakness once. He scored with Gallant Fox in 1930.

THE MILWAUKEE Braves became the first club in the National League to use a motor scooter to ride relief pitchers from the bull pen in right center field to the pitching mound. Hal Jeffcoat, St. Louis pitcher, became the first to use the scooter in the first inning of the Cardinal-Braves game Tuesday. (UPI Telephoto)

Millirons Win To Gain Tie For First Position

Millirons posted a convincing 15-4 victory over Homer Laughlins to gain a tie with Travelers for first place in the American Division of the Little League Tuesday.

Travelers scored a 14-7 win over Golden Star. The two top teams have 3-1 records.

In the National Loop, Medics handed Burbicks a 6-2 setback.

Millirons went on a hitting spree, collecting 15 safeties. Jim Johnson with two hits, including a home run, Billy Raimond's homer and single and Dany Burke's three hits in four trips paced Millirons.

Rich Whittington clubbed a home run and Jim Hissom had three hits in three trips for Homer Laughlin.

Burke was the winning hurler, giving up five hits.

Grace Scores Fifth Straight Softball Win

Grace Presbyterian chalked up its fifth straight in the YMCA-Church League with an 11-1 win over Second Christian.

Knowles, Johnson and McMillen led the winners with two hits each. Tice, the winning hurler, gave up three hits in six innings of relief work.

Calvary Methodist scored a 15-3 triumph over previously undefeated First Church of Christ Tuesday night in a league game at the Anderson Blvd. field.

Ralph Smith, pitching his third victory, also collected a double and a triple. Norm Davis helped the Calvary Methodist cause with a double and a bases-loaded triple. It was the first loss of the season for the First Church of Christ.

Glenn McGaffic hurled a five-hitter as St. John's Lutheran picked up a 6-3 win over Chester Christian. Bud Hobbs belted a home run for the losers.

Bobby Perreault of the Hershey Bears led the American Hockey League in shutouts last season with six.

Fraley Drives In Winning Run In Eighth

Irondale pushed across the winning run in the first half of the eighth inning to nip Lawrenceville, 6-5, Tuesday in City League action.

Lonnie Fraley drove in the important run with a single that scored Cab Prosko from second base. Prosko had reached second when his fly ball was dropped in right field.

The victory gives the Irons a 5-1 record, while Lawrenceville suffered its fifth defeat in six games.

Bob Henderson picked up the victory for Irondale. He gave up only four hits while striking out four. Vic Reed, the loser, fanned 10 and gave up but four hits.

Loose play in the field again hampered Lawrenceville. They committed four errors.

Lawrenceville broke on top by scoring three runs in the first inning, but Irondale came back to tie the score at 3-3 in the second.

The winners went ahead 5-3 in the third to knot things again at 5-5.

Grid Browns Sign Another Pass Catcher

CLEVELAND (AP) — Look for the Cleveland Browns to mix more passes with the power running of fullback Jimmy Brown this fall.

The Browns' hopes for more speed—especially at offensive end—received a big boost Tuesday. Rich Kreitling, a star pass receiver at the University of Illinois, passed up another year of collegiate eligibility and signed with Cleveland.

The 23-year-old Chicagoan, a 6-foot-2, 250-pounder, was the Browns' No. 1 draft choice, but they tabbed him mainly for the future. "I've had my four years of college and feel it's in my best interest to join the Browns," said Kreitling at the signing.

Coach Paul E. Brown was delighted with the decision. It means he could have three of the fastest men in football operating as receivers. Kreitling, who caught 23 passes for 688 yards at Illinois, joins Billy Howton, the veteran end and acquired from Green Bay, and flanker back Ray Renfro.

Writer Picks Patterson To Floor Swede In First

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson will knock out Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in the first round of an explosive, bloody battle at Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

This is the prediction of the writer after a study of the two fighters in their training camps, deep research of their careers, a look at a crystal ball and a consultation with a witch doctor.

Ingo has kept the mighty right under wraps in training. There's not much question that he has the power in that fist, as evidence by his first-round knockout of Eddie Machen, then the No. 1 contender, at Goteborg, Sweden, last Sept. 14, and his fifth-round kayo of Britain's Henry Cooper at Stockholm, May 19, 1957.

Both Machen and Cooper, however, are standup fighters. Both box in the classic style Johansson is accustomed to. Neither does much body punching. Johansson, too, is a standup fighter who operates with an orthodox left jab and follows with straight right hands. In training, however, Ingo has shown nothing. He floundered like an amateur when he was pressed.

Patterson is completely different in his mode of fighting. The lithe, pantherish champion fights out of a crouch. He bobs and weaves, holding both gloves in front of his face in a peek-a-boo style. His forearms protect his body.

Floyd moves quickly from side to side. Once in a while he shifts to a left-handed stance. He is hard to hit squarely. True, he has been knocked down in title fights by Pete Rademacher and Roy Harris. But he got up quickly and fired away faster.

Floyd still leaps in with his gazelle right — a punch thrown while he springs into the air with a catlike motion. But most important of all is his devastating combinations, especially to the body.

The 24-year-old champion lets loose with hooking flurries of 10 to 12 punches at times. Those blurring-fast combinations to the body—something Ingo never has had to cope with—will be his undoing.

This observer believes Patterson will move right in on the unbeaten European champion seconds after the opening bell. He probably will bang away at the body to bring down Johansson's hands and then shoot for the head. He may get nailed in this all-out assault.

If he does, and goes down, the story could be different. I think Patterson will be too close to his opponent to get hit by such a punishing blow.

With predictions of fair weather for Thursday night, the gate may even hit the $700,000 mark. Receipts from closed circuit TV, movies and radio may add an additional 1¼ million dollars to the gate.

Patterson still held as a 3½-1 favorite to win, and a 2-1 choice to score a knockout. It was 6-1 that Johansson would not knock out the champion.

Pittsburgh Trips Giants, 5-1, As Law Hurls Third Straight

Braves Defeat Cardinals To Protect Lead

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's kept Pittsburgh's Pirates so close to the National League lead? The answer is the pitching of Vern Law and Roy Face, a starter-reliever pair who have put away more than half of the Bucs' victories.

Law and Face were the only winners when the Pirates lost seven of their first nine games and plunged to the cellar. Now Law, ace of the starters with an 8-4 record, and Face, the majors' top winner at 11-0, have won 19 between them and the Bucs hold fourth place with a 37-33 record.

Law, 29, a right-hander who's been around since 1950, put away his third in a row Tuesday night, keeping the Pirates within 3½ games of first place with a six-hit, 5-1 victory over San Francisco. That made Law the first NL pitcher to beat every other club this season.

The defeat once against dropped the second place Giants two games behind the league leading Milwaukee Braves, who whipped St. Louis 9-5. Third place Los Angeles stayed a half-game ahead of Pittsburgh by beating Philadelphia 4-3. The Chicago Cubs defeated Cincinnati 3-1.

Law missed a second consecutive shutout when a walk and Jackie Brandt's double gave the Giants a fourth-inning run. The big right-hander battled in two of the Bucs' first three runs. Dick Stuart hit his 14th homer and had four of the Pirates' 15 hits.

Sam Jones (8-7) was the loser, giving up 10 hits and three runs in his first start since pitching the Giants into their short stay in first place last Friday night.

Del Crandall drove in four runs for the Braves, breaking a 3-3 tie with a one-on homer, his 12th, in the fifth inning against loser Hal Jeffcoat. Wes Covington, who drove in a pair of runs, followed Crandall's shot with his fifth homer. Carl Willey (3-1) was the winner, giving up 10 hits but gaining a complete game in his first start since May 29. Ken Boyer hit a two-run homer for the Cards, who lost starter Alex Kellner when he hurt his elbow pitching in the first inning.

Home runs by Junior Gilliam, Gil Hodges and Don Demeter got the job done for the Dodgers, who had only two other hits off loser Gene Conley (4-4). Danny McDevitt (6-6) was the winner.

Demeter and Hodges homered in a deciding, three-run fourth, with Hodges' tying Hank Greenberg for 11th place on the all-time major league list at 331. It was his 11th of the season and followed a double by Wally Moon, who now has hit in 16 consecutive games.

Lee Walls doubled home a run in the first inning, then added an RBI single in a two-run, wrap-up fifth for the Cubs against loser Joe Nuxhall (3-6). Glen Hobbie (7-6) was the winner, giving up eight hits, but blanking the Reds after they scored in the first inning.

Houston Golfers Set Fast Pace In Collegiate Action

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Bob Pratt and Jack Cupit led a record breaking Houston University team into match play in the National Collegiate Golf tournament today.

Both Pratt and Cupit tied the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. record for qualifying play Tuesday as they wound up two days of play on the Eugene Country Club course with 136 strokes each. 6 under par on the 37-34—71 course.

Pratt had rounds of 66 and 70, Cupit 69 and 67. The record is shared with Don Albert of Purdue, who set it in 1954, and John Pott, of Louisiana State, who tied it in 1955.

Houston smashed the team record in carrying off the team title a fourth consecutive year. The record was 570 strokes by four players set by Houston last year. Now the mark is 561.

In eight attempts, Jockey Earl Sande won the Preakness once. He scored with Gallant Fox in 1930.

Baltimore Cuts Tribe's Lead To One Game With 5-1 Win

Shoulder Injury Sidelines Martin

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians lost more than a ball game when Baltimore cut their American League lead to one game over the Chicago White Sox with a 5-1 decision Tuesday night. They lost second baseman Billy Martin.

The scrappy Martin suffered an injury to his right shoulder while retiring Baltimore's Al Pilarcik on a seventh-inning bunt. Martin fell hard on his shoulder as he fielded the ball and whipped it to first in a single motion.

Manager Joe Gordon said Martin will be sidelined indefinitely. The 31-year-old veteran will have the shoulder X-rayed today. The doctor told him it may be a pulled tendon or muscle.

Cleveland just didn't have it against Milt Pappas Tuesday night. He limited the Tribe to five hits, one of them Woodie Held's homer in the eighth inning.

Baltimore hopped on Cleveland starter Gary Bell for two runs in the third inning after he walked two men and gave up singles to Bob Nieman and Gus Triandos.

The Orioles chased Bell in the sixth when they tallied three more times on a walk, a double and three straight singles—one of them by Pappas.

Pappas won the rubber match in his personal duel with Bell. Each had beaten the other previously this season. Bell, who had beaten the Orioles twice, suffered his seventh loss to go with six triumphs.

Dick Brodowski, Mike Garcia and Jim Perry followed Bell to the mound. Only Garcia, who hurled two frames, stopped the Orioles, who had whacked 10 hits, nine of them singles.

Herb Score (7-4) draws the Indians' hurling assignment tonight against Hector (Skinny) Brown (4-2) in the second of the three-game series.

Williams' Homer Helps Bosox Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ted Williams has made Briggs Stadium his favorite ballyard since he burst into the American League in 1939.

A 40-year-old Williams, back in the line-up after being benched for weak hitting for the first time in his career, says "don't count me out:" following a single and home run in three at-bats Tuesday night as Boston rapped Detroit 10-4.

It was only the fourth time this season that Williams, who upped his average 13 points to .202, has managed two hits in one game—and it was his first game in Briggs Stadium this year.

That loss, their fifth in seven games, plunked the Tigers to fifth. The New York Yankees took fourth, belting Kansas City again, 10-2, and moving within two games of first place Cleveland. The Indians lost 5-1 to Baltimore while Chicago's second place White Sox moved within one game of the top by defeating Washington 4-1.

The Red Sox, jumping from eighth place to sixth, broke loose for five runs on three homers in the last two innings. Williams' third of the year, the 485th of his career, and Frank Malzone's 10th scored two runs in the eighth. Then Jackie Jensen counted three in the ninth with his 14th. All three were off reliever Dave Sisler, the exRed Sox right-hander.

Ike Delock, (6-4) was the winner with a five-hitter. Paul Foytack (5-7) was the loser, giving up four runs and three of Boston's 13 hits in the first inning.

Young Milt Pappas (7-3), winning three of his last four decisions, handed the Indians their fourth defeat in six games with a five-hitter. The third place Orioles had 10 hits, beating Gary Bell (6-7) with two runs in the third on a pair of walks and two-out singles by Bob Nieman and Gus Triandos.

Early Wynn (10-5) became the AL's top winner with his 259th career victory. He got it with an eight-hit, seven-strikeout job backed up by Sherm Lollar's two-run homer, his eighth, and a pair of two-out hits from Earl Torgeson.

The Yankees, shrugging off Sunday's double defeat by Cleveland, made it seven out of nine with an 18-hit barrage that included three two-run homers—by Mickey Mantle (18), Hank Bauer (4) and Gil McDougald (2). Southpaw Whitey Ford (7-4), who sprained an ankle in his last start, was the winner with a five-hitter.

Kapp Pitches Post 374 To 4-1 Decision

His teammates backed him with an eight-hit attack. Kapp helped his own cause with a triple. The eight hits were well divided, with no Post 374 player getting more than one.

Kapp blanked Salem all but the fourth inning when the Quakers scored their lone run. Post 374 tallied twice in the third and added two more in the fifth.

Littens Edge Woodbine 13-11 In Pony League

Littens had a battle on their hands but managed to finish the first half of the Pony League season undefeated with a 13-11 win over Woodbine.

Littens trailed 4-1 in the third inning, but came roaring back capping the scoring with a 5-run sixth inning.

Berhar picked up the victory for the winners and collected three hits in four times at bat.

Williams' Homer Helps Bosox Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ted Williams has made Briggs Stadium his favorite ballyard since he burst into the American League in 1939.

A 40-year-old Williams, back in the line-up after being benched for weak hitting for the first time in his career, says "don't count me out:" following a single and home run in three at-bats Tuesday night as Boston rapped Detroit 10-4.

It was only the fourth time this season that Williams, who upped his average 13 points to .202, has managed two hits in one game—and it was his first game in Briggs Stadium this year.

That loss, their fifth in seven games, plunked the Tigers to fifth. The New York Yankees took fourth, belting Kansas City again, 10-2, and moving within two games of first place Cleveland. The Indians lost 5-1 to Baltimore while Chicago's second place White Sox moved within one game of the top by defeating Washington 4-1.

The Red Sox, jumping from eighth place to sixth, broke loose for five runs on three homers in the last two innings. Williams' third of the year, the 485th of his career, and Frank Malzone's 10th scored two runs in the eighth. Then Jackie Jensen counted three in the ninth with his 14th. All three were off reliever Dave Sisler, the exRed Sox right-hander.

Ike Delock, (6-4) was the winner with a five-hitter. Paul Foytack (5-7) was the loser, giving up four runs and three of Boston's 13 hits in the first inning.

Young Milt Pappas (7-3), winning three of his last four decisions, handed the Indians their fourth defeat in six games with a five-hitter. The third place Orioles had 10 hits, beating Gary Bell (6-7) with two runs in the third on a pair of walks and two-out singles by Bob Nieman and Gus Triandos.

Early Wynn (10-5) became the AL's top winner with his 259th career victory. He got it with an eight-hit, seven-strikeout job backed up by Sherm Lollar's two-run homer, his eighth, and a pair of two-out hits from Earl Torgeson.

The Yankees, shrugging off Sunday's double defeat by Cleveland, made it seven out of nine with an 18-hit barrage that included three two-run homers—by Mickey Mantle (18), Hank Bauer (4) and Gil McDougald (2). Southpaw Whitey Ford (7-4), who sprained an akle in his last start, was the winner with a five-hitter.

Kapp Pitches Post 374 To 4-1 Decision

Post 374 will now face Columbiana in the three-team double-elimination tourney.

His teammates backed him with an eight-hit attack. Kapp helped his own cause with a triple. The eight hits were well divided, with no Post 374 player getting more than one.

Kapp blanked Salem all but the fourth inning when the Quakers scored their lone run. Post 374 tallied twice in the third and added two more in the fifth.

Some fishermen are taking them by the dozens and the nice part about it is that they run from 8 to 10 inches in length. This is as good as the average taken in Lake Erie.

These are what I call "skillet-size" and are very good eating. Small bluegills, sunfish, bullheads and whopping big carp also are being taken at Guilford.

I WAS called out to the Petty farm on the Winona-Lake Guilford Road Sunday where a "strange animal" was reported. Looking it up in my Field Naturalist hand book, I found it was an erethyzon dorsatum. In other words, just plain porcupine.

It was about 8:30 p. m. when some small boys spotted what they thought was a groundhog coming across the field. One of them obtained a limb, with intentions of killing it.

Instead the animal went up the first maple tree and in spite of all efforts they could not dislodge it. The missus pronounced a porcupine after one good look and the quills that were gathered proved beyond all doubt that it was.

They wouldn't shoot it because they thought it might be protected by law unlike the groundhog.

THERE IS no law on porcupines in this state, because there aren't supposed to be any, although they could very well come into Ohio from Pennsylvania or West Virginia, where they are still in existence.

About five years ago Joe Post, who lives on the corner of Depot and Winona Road, called me, declaring that he had a live porcupine.

It was captured in the woods about two miles from where this one put in its appearance Saturday, so it could be that a family of porcupines is in existence in this general vicinity. The one the Petty family saw was a small one, but the one Joe captured was full grown and weighed about 20 pounds.

Normally, they inhabit the deeply-wooded areas. They live almost exclusively on plants, favoring salty substances and evergreen foilage, but also eat water plants, tree bark, and other substances usually collected at twilight, at dawn, or in moonlight.

The porcupine is slow and stupid, not particularly clean or sociable; does not hibernate; makes crude nests in cavities in trees or rocks.

IT IS dangerous to dogs and other animals because of quills. Anytime a dog tackles one he comes out second best, with a nose full of quills that have to be cut out one by one, since the quills have a series of barbs on them something like a fish hook.

Some people think a porcupine shoots quills when being attacked. This is not true. They shed the quills on contact, but the chief damage is done when they turn their back and swing their tail in defense.

They make interesting pets when captured young. Even so, it is one animal which never should be handled because the quills penetrate the flesh upon contact.

Redlegs Bow To Cubs, 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Crosley Field, long considered a happy hunting ground for Cincinnati, appears to have lost some of its charm for the seventh place Redlegs.

In dropping a 3-1 decision to Chicago Tuesday night, Cincinnati lost its 14th home game this season. They have won 18 here. Road problems haven't changed. They have lost 23 of the 35 games away.

Chicago's Glen Hobbie allowed Cincinnati eight hits, walked two and the Cubs committed one error, but the only Redleg to cross the plate Tuesday night was the leadoff batter, Johnny Temple, in the first inning.

Temple singled, stole second and then scored on Frank Robinson's single. The RBI upped Robinson's total to 60 for the year and the hit was his first of four for a perfect night at the plate.

The run tied the game. The Cubs scored in the first half of the inning when Tony Taylor hit a double and then scored on a double by Lee Walls.

Cincinnati started Joe Nuxhall, who absorbed his sixth defeat in nine decisions, allowed the other two Chicago runs in the fifth before giving way to Willard Schmidt.

Whitey Lockman, who was obtained by Cincinnati only a few hours earlier in a trade with Baltimore for Walt Dropo, broke into the lineup in the seventh as a pinch hitter for Eddie Kasko, but flied out.

Besides the Lockman-Dropo trade, Cincinnati signed three youngsters Tuesday, one of them the brother of Baltimore infielder Billy Klaus.

Signed, all for undisclosed bonuses, were Bob Klaus, 20, of Fox's Lake, Ill.; Larry Dovel, 19, of Luray, Va., and Dan Paul, 17, of Seymour, Conn.

Klaus was a shortstop with the University of Illinois. Dovel and Paul were high school pitching standouts.

Klaus and Dovel will report soon to the Cincinnati's Nashville club in the Southern Assn. Paul will not report until next spring.

'Don't Count Me Out Yet,' Williams Says On Return

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—"They'd better not count me out yet," insists Ted Williams. "They might be counting too soon."

"But if I didn't think I'd come out of it," he snapped, "I'd quit right now. Better yet, I'd have packed it in last month."

The big fellow has bounced back before. He has had his share of injuries and there were a couple of interruptions for Marine duty.

Tuesday he got a rousing ovation from a Briggs Stadium crowd of 40,085 when he slammed an eighth inning home run against the second deck facing in right field. It helped the Sox to a 10-4 victory. Williams also had a ground single in three trips, boosting his average to an anemic .202.

"I know a lot of people are saying the old guy is washed up, but it just isn't true," said Williams.

"I've been around longer than anyone except Enos Slaughter. Now I ask you—shouldn't I know myself pretty well?

"Sure—better than anyone. And I know damn well, I'm not through as a hitter. I can't run and my arm isn't very strong, but I can still hit. And I'll prove it.

"If I had hit .260 last year I'd know my time had come. But I hit pretty well, especially in the last two months of the season. No one in the majors hit any better over that span."

Williams, who led the American League with a .328 mark in 1958, says he knows why he hasn't been hitting.

"I don't want it to sound like an alibi," he emphasized, "but look at it this way. Seven days after I got to spring training my neck started to pain me. Finally I couldn't move and I went to Boston—missed practically all of spring training.

"Then I spent 40 days in traction and a collar. Ten days later I was in the lineup. I just hurried myself that's all. My neck and the muscles in my back still give me trouble. Once I get that straightened around, I'll be all right. Just you wait and see."

Brown County Lake Plugged; Jefferson Will Get Pheasants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—John Walker, district No. 6 fish management supervisor for the Ohio Division of Wildlife, has a plug for a lake in his district.

Walker says it's impossible to pinpoint reasons why fish grow big and fast at Grant Lake, but said "conditions within the 200-acre body of water promote rapid development of the three fish". A relatively shallow lake, Grant was built 11 years ago.

A game technician of the Wildlife Division reports that uncontrolled packs of dogs and illegal hunting are the two main reasons why the deer herd in southern Ohio remains comparatively low. He said there are adequate food and cover to support a much larger deer herd in many of the southern hill counties.

About 4,000 Reeves' pheasants will be stocked in Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Washington and Meigs counties during 1959, division game men report. They will be stocked by two methods, a general release during the fall, and releases by sportsmen's clubs through the cooperative 50-50 pheasant program.

The gaudy, long-tailed forest-dwelling Reeves normally lives in the forested hills of central China, where the climate and other conditions are similar to those found in southern and southeastern Ohio. This will be the sixth year that Reeves pheasants have been stocked in the area.

Almost a quarter million muskies were hatched at the St. Marys fish farm this spring. Management men say success of this muskie project is of national importance.

A pint of muskie eggs was imported from Canada. From this small beginning came all of the production of the St. Marys hatchery which works only with the Great Lakes subspecies of muskies. This is the first time a breeding population has been established from eggs alone.

The Great Lakes muskies are released only in the waters of the Lake Erie drainage. Streams and lakes in Portage, Lorain, Williams, Wood, Seneca, and Allen counties got thousands of the fry.

Writers Lean To Floyd

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is picked to turn back the challenge of Ingemar Johansson Thursday by 63 of 69 boxing writers including four of seven Swedish newsmen. Ohio Amateur Wins For U.S.

TORONTO (AP)—Ed Meister, Willoughby, Ohio, amateur, sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff Tuesday to give the United States its first victory in the International Canada-U.S. Pro-Amateur golf tournament here.

The 16 players in the 18-hole best-ball tournament, four pros and four amateurs from each country, were tied 6-6 after regulation play. Meister wrapped it up for the Americans with his pressure putt.

Vancouver pro Stan Leonard and his amateur partner, Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., were outstanding. They scored the maximum three points by defeating newly crowned Canadian Open champion Doug Ford of Paradise, Fla., and Meister over 18 holes.

Under the scoring system, one point is awarded to the team winning the most holes in each nine and an additional point to the winner on an 18-hole basis.

The Leonard-Cowan combination went ahead one point on the first nine and also took the last nine and the match to pull Canada into a 6-6 tie and force the playoff.

Al Balding, pro at Markham, Ont., and amateur Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., tied with U.S. PGA champion Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Ed Tutwiler of Charleston, W. Va. They each scored 1½ points. Canada won the first nine, the Americans the second and the match ended all even on holes.

The biggest American margin was registered by Paul Harney, long-driving pro from Worcester, Mass., and Bob Shave of Cleveland. They defeated Henry Martell of Edmonton, Canadian PGA champion, and Bruce Castator of Toronto, 1958 Canadian Amateur champion, 2½ points to ½ after finishing the first nine all even.

In the fourth match, Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C. and amateur Chuck Kocsis of Detroit scored a 2-1 point victory over Calgary pro Bud Loftus and Eric Hanson, Toronto amateur. The Canadians were two up after nine but lost the margin and the match on the final nine holes.

The Jersey Stakes will be replaced in 1960 at Garden State Park by the Jersey Derby. It is to be a $100,000 race for 3-year-olds.

It will be televised over ABC at 10 p. m. (East Liverpool time)

Scanlon, 23, who fights out of San Francisco although he came up through the Golden Gloves ranks in Buffalo, N.Y., has won 32 of 36 starts, 10 by knockouts.

Cologne is located on the Rhine River.

County Ranks Among Top 15 For Licenses

Columbiana County apparently has some avid sportsmen as the county ranks among the top 15 in the state in the number of hunting licenses sold, according to the Division of Wildlife at Columbus.

The division said that in 1927 approximately half of Ohio's hunting licenses were sold in 15 counties and that the same counties again reported nearly half of the licenses sold in 1957, thirty years later.

In those 30 years the number of hunters in Ohio have almost doubled while the state's population has only increased by one-third. In 1957 there were a total of 692,747 licenses sold. The total for 1927 was 368,278. Ohio's population in 1957 has been set at approximately nine million. In 1927 it was slightly over six million.

The 15 top counties and licenses sold in 1927 and 1957, in that order, follow: Allen, 5,072 — 10,701; Butler, 7,020 — 16,693; Clark, 7,558 — 11,583; Columbiana, 5,605 — 9,950; Cuyahoga, 19,675 — 40,815; Franklin, 22,345 — 44,425; Hamilton, 17,296 — 32,430; Lorain, 7,249 — 14,540; Lucas, 10,216 — 27,796; Mahoning, 6,952 — 13,438; Montgomery, 14,109 — 34,366; Richland, 5,960 — 11,022; Stark, 13,352 — 28,508; Summit, 18,007 — 30,622, and Trumbull 7,795 — 15,231.

A hunting and trapping license was first required for Ohio residents in 1911, the price — $1.00. In 1952 the cost was raised to $2.00. Non resident hunting and trapping licenses cost $15 and have been required since 1904. Records indicate 118,549 licenses were sold in 1914. By 1923 the sale of licenses had reached 342,756.

There has been hunting every year since licenses were required, with the exception of 1951 when there was no deer season due to some public opposition. The deer season for 1950 was actually held January 2 through 5, 1951.

Some fishermen are taking them by the dozens and the nice part about it is that they run from 8 to 10 inches in length. This is as good as the average taken in Lake Erie.

These are what I call "skillet-size" and are very good eating. Small bluegills, sunfish, bullheads and whopping big carp also are being taken at Guilford.

I WAS called out to the Petty farm on the Winona-Lake Guilford Road Sunday where a "strange animal" was reported. Looking it up in my Field Naturalist hand book, I found it was an erethyzon dorsatum. In other words, just plain porcupine.

It was about 8:30 p. m. when some small boys spotted what they thought was a groundhog coming across the field. One of them obtained a limb, with intentions of killing it.

Instead the animal went up the first maple tree and in spite of all efforts they could not dislodge it. The missus pronounced a porcupine after one good look and the quills that were gathered proved beyond all doubt that it was.

THERE IS no law on porcupines in this state, because there aren't supposed to be any, although they could very well come into Ohio from Pennsylvania or West Virginia, where they are still in existence.

About five years ago Joe Post, who lives on the corner of Depot and Winona Road, called me, declaring that he had a live porcupine.

It was captured in the woods about two miles from where this one put in its appearance Saturday, so it could be that a family of porcupines is in existence in this general vicinity. The one the Petty family saw was a small one, but the one Joe captured was full grown and weighed about 20 pounds.

Normally, they inhabit the deeply-wooded areas. They live almost exclusively on plants, favoring salty substances and evergreen foilage, but also eat water plants, tree bark, and other substances usually collected at twilight, at dawn, or in moonlight.

The porcupine is slow and stupid, not particularly clean or sociable; does not hibernate; makes crude nests in cavities in trees or rocks.

IT IS dangerous to dogs and other animals because of quills. Anytime a dog tackles one he comes out second best, with a nose full of quills that have to be cut out one by one, since the quills have a series of barbs on them something like a fish hook.

Some people think a porcupine shoots quills when being attacked. This is not true. They shed the quills on contact, but the chief damage is done when they turn their back and swing their tail in defense.

They make interesting pets when captured young. Even so, it is one animal which never should be handled because the quills penetrate the flesh upon contact.

Redlegs Bow To Cubs, 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Crosley Field, long considered a happy hunting ground for Cincinnati, appears to have lost some of its charm for the seventh place Redlegs.

In dropping a 3-1 decision to Chicago Tuesday night, Cincinnati lost its 14th home game this season. They have won 18 here. Road problems haven't changed. They have lost 23 of the 35 games away.

Chicago's Glen Hobbie allowed Cincinnati eight hits, walked two and the Cubs committed one error, but the only Redleg to cross the plate Tuesday night was the leadoff batter, Johnny Temple, in the first inning.

Temple singled, stole second and then scored on Frank Robinson's single. The RBI upped Robinson's total to 60 for the year and the hit was his first of four for a perfect night at the plate.

The run tied the game. The Cubs scored in the first half of the inning when Tony Taylor hit a double and then scored on a double by Lee Walls.

Cincinnati started Joe Nuxhall, who absorbed his sixth defeat in nine decisions, allowed the other two Chicago runs in the fifth before giving way to Willard Schmidt.

Whitey Lockman, who was obtained by Cincinnati only a few hours earlier in a trade with Baltimore for Walt Dropo, broke into the lineup in the seventh as a pinch hitter for Eddie Kasko, but flied out.

Signed, all for undisclosed bonuses, were Bob Klaus, 20, of Fox's Lake, Ill.; Larry Dovel, 19, of Luray, Va., and Dan Paul, 17, of Seymour, Conn.

Klaus was a shortstop with the University of Illinois. Dovel and Paul were high school pitching standouts.

Klaus and Dovel will report soon to the Cincinnati's Nashville club in the Southern Assn. Paul will not report until next spring.

'Don't Count Me Out Yet,' Williams Says On Return

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—"They'd better not count me out yet," insists Ted Williams. "They might be counting too soon."

"But if I didn't think I'd come out of it," he snapped, "I'd quit right now. Better yet, I'd have packed it in last month."

The big fellow has bounced back before. He has had his share of injuries and there were a couple of interruptions for Marine duty.

Tuesday he got a rousing ovation from a Briggs Stadium crowd of 40,085 when he slammed an eighth inning home run against the second deck facing in right field. It helped the Sox to a 10-4 victory. Williams also had a ground single in three trips, boosting his average to an anemic .202.

"I know a lot of people are saying the old guy is washed up, but it just isn't true," said Williams.

"I've been around longer than anyone except Enos Slaughter. Now I ask you—shouldn't I know myself pretty well?

"Sure—better than anyone. And I know damn well, I'm not through as a hitter. I can't run and my arm isn't very strong, but I can still hit. And I'll prove it.

"If I had hit .260 last year I'd know my time had come. But I hit pretty well, especially in the last two months of the season. No one in the majors hit any better over that span."

Williams, who led the American League with a .328 mark in 1958, says he knows why he hasn't been hitting.

"I don't want it to sound like an alibi," he emphasized, "but look at it this way. Seven days after I got to spring training my neck started to pain me. Finally I couldn't move and I went to Boston—missed practically all of spring training.

"Then I spent 40 days in traction and a collar. Ten days later I was in the lineup. I just hurried myself that's all. My neck and the muscles in my back still give me trouble. Once I get that straightened around, I'll be all right. Just you wait and see."

Brown County Lake Plugged; Jefferson Will Get Pheasants

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—John Walker, district No. 6 fish management supervisor for the Ohio Division of Wildlife, has a plug for a lake in his district.

Walker says it's impossible to pinpoint reasons why fish grow big and fast at Grant Lake, but said "conditions within the 200-acre body of water promote rapid development of the three fish". A relatively shallow lake, Grant was built 11 years ago.

A game technician of the Wildlife Division reports that uncontrolled packs of dogs and illegal hunting are the two main reasons why the deer herd in southern Ohio remains comparatively low. He said there are adequate food and cover to support a much larger deer herd in many of the southern hill counties.

About 4,000 Reeves' pheasants will be stocked in Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Washington and Meigs counties during 1959, division game men report. They will be stocked by two methods, a general release during the fall, and releases by sportsmen's clubs through the cooperative 50-50 pheasant program.

The gaudy, long-tailed forest-dwelling Reeves normally lives in the forested hills of central China, where the climate and other conditions are similar to those found in southern and southeastern Ohio. This will be the sixth year that Reeves pheasants have been stocked in the area.

Almost a quarter million muskies were hatched at the St. Marys fish farm this spring. Management men say success of this muskie project is of national importance.

A pint of muskie eggs was imported from Canada. From this small beginning came all of the production of the St. Marys hatchery which works only with the Great Lakes subspecies of muskies. This is the first time a breeding population has been established from eggs alone.

The Great Lakes muskies are released only in the waters of the Lake Erie drainage. Streams and lakes in Portage, Lorain, Williams, Wood, Seneca, and Allen counties got thousands of the fry.

County Ranks Among Top 15 For Licenses

Columbiana County apparently has some avid sportsmen as the county ranks among the top 15 in the state in the number of hunting licenses sold, according to the Division of Wildlife at Columbus.

The division said that in 1927 approximately half of Ohio's hunting licenses were sold in 15 counties and that the same counties again reported nearly half of the licenses sold in 1957, thirty years later.

In those 30 years the number of hunters in Ohio have almost doubled while the state's population has only increased by one-third. In 1957 there were a total of 692,747 licenses sold. The total for 1927 was 368,278. Ohio's population in 1957 has been set at approximately nine million. In 1927 it was slightly over six million.

The 15 top counties and licenses sold in 1927 and 1957, in that order, follow: Allen, 5,072 — 10,701; Butler, 7,020 — 16,693; Clark, 7,558 — 11,583; Columbiana, 5,605 — 9,950; Cuyahoga, 19,675 — 40,815; Franklin, 22,345 — 44,425; Hamilton, 17,296 — 32,430; Lorain, 7,249 — 14,540; Lucas, 10,216 — 27,796; Mahoning, 6,952 — 13,438; Montgomery, 14,109 — 34,366; Richland, 5,960 — 11,022; Stark, 13,352 — 28,508; Summit, 18,007 — 30,622, and Trumbull 7,795 — 15,231.

A hunting and trapping license was first required for Ohio residents in 1911, the price — $1.00. In 1952 the cost was raised to $2.00. Non resident hunting and trapping licenses cost $15 and have been required since 1904. Records indicate 118,549 licenses were sold in 1914. By 1923 the sale of licenses had reached 342,756.

Alston Pins Much Of Hope On Hodges, Snider Hitting

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Walter Alston, a fellow who might hesitate to predict next Easter will fall on a Sunday, is now prepared to say his Los Angeles Dodgers could win the National League pennant.

The quiet, cautious man from Ohio hasn't reached the point where he's worried about what pitching rotation he might use in the World Series. But, after the Dodgers moved to within a game of second place Tuesday night by beating Philadelphia 4-3, Alston volunteered these remarks:

"That is, if the pitching holds out.

"Now, I don't want it to sound as though I'm pinning it all on one or two men. We'd need help from the others too. It's gotta be a team effort — all the way down to the batboy almost.

"I know Snider's got to be rested once in a while (because of a knee injury) but he's hitting over .300 and he's hitting with power."

Wally Moon, for example, has a 16-game hitting streak going and is batting .333. Jim Gilliam, who has reached base 12 times in his last 17 at bats, is hitting .326. And Don Demeter has 14 homers, 50 RBI.

Hodges, however, probably figures in the change as much as anyone. He has hit safely in his last eight games, raising his average to .298. He has 42 RBI — 12 in his last nine games.

Gil gained additional stature among the game's power hitters when he hit his 11th homer of the season Tuesday night. It was his 331st in the majors and it moved him into a tie with Hank Greenberg for 11th place among all-time home run leaders.

Buchholz Rated Tops By Kramer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Pro tennis czar Jack Kramer today called tempermental teen-ager Earl Buchholz of St. Louis the "greatest tennis talent" in the amateur ranks "and I can hardly wait to get him."

This was Kramer's answer to Buchholz statement that "I can hardly wait to turn professional" after his first-round upset of Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli at Wimbledon.

"Of all the amateurs around, Buchholz has the most talent," Kramer said. "More than Alex Olmedo, more than any of them. And don't worry about his temperment. It'll change when he turns pro. They all do."

Shannon Flows Again As Columbus Jets Bow

By The Associated Press

The Columbus Jets have been having more than their share of woes with the Rochester Red Wings during the past five days in the International League. They can put most of the blame on Rochester Second Baseman Wally Shannon.

Shannon powered the Wings to their fourth triumph in the five game set Tuesday night as he blasted two home runs and a double to account for all the runs in Rochester's 3-1 victory. It was the only IL game scheduled.

Shannon collected four home runs, a double and four singles, plus six runs batted in, in the five games which helped keep Rochester only 1½ games behind league leading Buffalo, and a game out of second place.

5 Lose Lives In Wreckage Of Jet Bomber

BURNS, Ore. (AP)—A B52 jet bomber on an experimental low-level flight for the Strategic Air Command crashed in flames Tuesday. The five men aboard were killed.

Witnesses said the eight-jet plane caught fire and was enveloped in flames when it crashed in a remote area 35 miles east of this central Oregon town.

A Boeing spokesman said these civilian employes were aboard the plane: pilot Lewis Moore, 44, Kirkland, Wash.; copilot Joseph Keller, Bellevue, Wash.; navigator Gerald Green, 37, Kent, Wash.; and flight engineers Charles McDaniel, 29, and Neil Johnson, 29, both of Seattle.

Beaver Barley Support Price Set At 88 Cents

The basic county price - support rate for 1959-crop barley in Beaver County will be 88 cents per bushel, G. M. Swick, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced.

The rate applies to barley grading No. 2 or better. The county rate will be further adjusted for grades below No. 2 in determining support prices for individual producers. Discounts are the same as under the 1958 program.

Terminal rates are available at the County ASC office for farmers who wish to store their grain in a terminal elevator. These rates reflect freight and handling charges involved in moving the grain to the terminal.

County and terminal rates also reflect changed transportation costs from producing areas to terminals and changed relationships between terminal market prices.

Price support will be followed, as in previous years, through farm and warehouse-stored loans and purchase agreements. Support will be available from harvest time through Jan. 31, 1960.

Persons with such machinery or equipment are asked to contact the county extension service offices in Lisbon.

Youth Given 10 Days In Detention Quarters

An East Liverpool youth was sentenced to 10 days in the detention room at the County Jail Tuesday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for failing to obey a court order.

Donald Paul Menear, 17, of 323½ E. 8th St. was sentenced after a hearing for a second offense of driving his father's car without permission on a temporary permit.

He was cited April 23, paid a fine of $25 and was told not to drive for three months without the court's permission and to give his temporary permit to Chris Pusey, juvenile officer, which he failed to do. Saturday—less than 60 days afterwards, he was cited by a sheriff's deputy for the same offense. Besides the 10-day detention, his temporary permit was suspended indefinitely.

State Gets Set To Wind Up In Klumpp Trial

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP) — The prosecution, successful in having Edythe Klumpp's statement to police read to the jury, is expected to complete its case today in the blonde, divorcee's first-degree murder trial.

The 41-year-old part-time sewing teacher is accused of shooting and beating Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, to death last Oct. 30. The state claims Mrs. Klumpp wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's 30-year-old estranged husband, William.

Mrs. Klumpp and Bergen had been living together for several months.

Cincinnati detective Eugene Moore is due for cross-examination today by defense attorney William F. Hopkins. It was Moore and his partner, Wilbert Stagenhorst, who obtained two hand-written statements from Mrs. Klumpp.

In those, she admitted being involved in the death of Mrs. Bergen but claimed the shooting was accidental as they grappled for a gun. She also admitted burning Mrs. Bergen's body at Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County on Oct. 31.

Moore said, however, that Mrs. Klumpp claimed she was "dazed" after the shooting on a secluded dead-end street in a Cincinnati park.

"I knew something had to be done with the body," he quoted her as saying.

She admitted dragging the body out of the car, jamming it into the trunk and keeping it there over night. In the interim, she said, she taught an adult sewing class at Woodward High School, then joined Bergen at her home for the night and the next day picked up three children who boarded at her home.

She said she bought the gasoline with which the body was burned on that day although the state has a credit sales slip showing she bought gasoline on Oct. 29—the day before the slaying.

After Hopkins completes his cross-examination of Moore, the prosecution said it will call Stagenhorst as its last witness.

Hopkins said the defense testimony should be completed in two days. That means the case could go to the jury by Tuesday.

Assistant prosecutor Melvin Ruger read the two statements by Mrs. Klumpp. There were two because in the first one she claimed Mrs. Bergen brought the gun to the meeting between the two love-triangle figures. She also said she threw the gun away in a field between Lake Cowan and Cincinnati.

Moore said officers insisted to her she was lying about the gun. Then she made the second statement admitting she had the gun in her car and that she did not throw it away. Police already had found it at her home.

She said she had used the gun a few days previously for target shooting.

West Virginia Hires Director For Centennial Events In '63

Stern, a 42 - year - old Cincinnati native, will get $30,000 plus expenses during four years of planning for the million-dollar program. He will be full-time director with headquarters here during the fourth year.

Before winding up the two - day meeting, the commission took steps to name the nucleus of a finance committee and conferred with investment authorities in the state treasurer's office about the investment of funds coming into the commission's hands during the early planning period.

The commission will invite various individuals high in finance, business and industry to serve on the committee.

Because most of the legislature-appropriated money will not be needed immediately, the commission has decided to invest it in sound securities.

Stern, director of the department of community and industrial showmanship for the American National Theater and Academy, is also serving as a consultant for the city of Seattle in connection with a 20-to-25-million-dollar science fair planned there in 1961.

He said that he had not found any group that began planning "so far ahead and as thoroughly" as the West Virginia commission.

Gil gained additional stature among the game's power hitters when he hit his 11th homer of the season Tuesday night. It was his 331st in the majors and it moved him into a tie with Hank Greenberg for 11th place among all-time home run leaders.

Buchholz Rated Tops By Kramer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Pro tennis czar Jack Kramer today called tempermental teen-ager Earl Buchholz of St. Louis the "greatest tennis talent" in the amateur ranks "and I can hardly wait to get him."

"Of all the amateurs around, Buchholz has the most talent," Kramer said. "More than Alex Olmedo, more than any of them. And don't worry about his temperment. It'll change when he turns pro. They all do."

State Gets Set To Wind Up In Klumpp Trial

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP) — The prosecution, successful in having Edythe Klumpp's statement to police read to the jury, is expected to complete its case today in the blonde, divorcee's first-degree murder trial.

The 41-year-old part-time sewing teacher is accused of shooting and beating Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, to death last Oct. 30. The state claims Mrs. Klumpp wanted to marry Mrs. Bergen's 30-year-old estranged husband, William.

Mrs. Klumpp and Bergen had been living together for several months.

Cincinnati detective Eugene Moore is due for cross-examination today by defense attorney William F. Hopkins. It was Moore and his partner, Wilbert Stagenhorst, who obtained two hand-written statements from Mrs. Klumpp.

In those, she admitted being involved in the death of Mrs. Bergen but claimed the shooting was accidental as they grappled for a gun. She also admitted burning Mrs. Bergen's body at Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County on Oct. 31.

Moore said, however, that Mrs. Klumpp claimed she was "dazed" after the shooting on a secluded dead-end street in a Cincinnati park.

"I knew something had to be done with the body," he quoted her as saying.

She admitted dragging the body out of the car, jamming it into the trunk and keeping it there over night. In the interim, she said, she taught an adult sewing class at Woodward High School, then joined Bergen at her home for the night and the next day picked up three children who boarded at her home.

She said she bought the gasoline with which the body was burned on that day although the state has a credit sales slip showing she bought gasoline on Oct. 29—the day before the slaying.

After Hopkins completes his cross-examination of Moore, the prosecution said it will call Stagenhorst as its last witness.

Hopkins said the defense testimony should be completed in two days. That means the case could go to the jury by Tuesday.

Assistant prosecutor Melvin Ruger read the two statements by Mrs. Klumpp. There were two because in the first one she claimed Mrs. Bergen brought the gun to the meeting between the two love-triangle figures. She also said she threw the gun away in a field between Lake Cowan and Cincinnati.

Moore said officers insisted to her she was lying about the gun. Then she made the second statement admitting she had the gun in her car and that she did not throw it away. Police already had found it at her home.

She said she had used the gun a few days previously for target shooting.

West Virginia Hires Director For Centennial Events In '63

Stern, a 42-year-old Cincinnati native, will get $30,000 plus expenses during four years of planning for the million-dollar program. He will be full-time director with headquarters here during the fourth year.

Before winding up the two-day meeting, the commission took steps to name the nucleus of a finance committee and conferred with investment authorities in the state treasurer's office about the investment of funds coming into the commission's hands during the early planning period.

The commission will invite various individuals high in finance, business and industry to serve on the committee.

Because most of the legislature-appropriated money will not be needed immediately, the commission has decided to invest it in sound securities.

Stern, director of the department of community and industrial showmanship for the American National Theater and Academy, is also serving as a consultant for the city of Seattle in connection with a 20-to-25-million-dollar science fair planned there in 1961.

He said that he had not found any group that began planning "so far ahead and as thoroughly" as the West Virginia commission.

Court Upholds West Virginia In '5% Order'

CHARLESTON (AP) — An order requiring state agencies to cut spending from their general revenue appropriations was legal, even as applied to school aid.

So said the West Virginia Supreme Court Tuesday in a unanimous decision. The case grew out of the "5 per-cent order" issued by the Board of Public Works last December.

Judge Frank C. Haymond wrote the court opinion. He said that the executive branch of government "is powerless to affect any change whatsoever" in an appropriation made by the legislature.

But, Judge Haymond said, the section of law under which the board acted does not amount to an authorization for the executive branch to alter appropriations. The section's proper meaning and effect is simply to limit spending from an appropriation to the revenue available for that purpose.

State revenue was in a slump when the board acted last December. It looked as if income to the general revenue fund this fiscal year might fall short of the amount appropriated from the fund by the legislature.

The board, therefore, ordered state agencies to withhold from spending and set aside in reserve 5 per cent of their general revenue appropriations for fiscal 1958-59.

Revenues since than have made a comeback and the board has modified its order three times. The amount now required to be withheld is only .01 per cent. The board required this token reserve only to preserve an issue for the court case.

The school boards of four counties—Wood, McDowell, Wyoming and Hardy—initiated the suit in Kanawha County Circuit Court against the Board of Public Works and the Board of School Finance. The latter is the agency which distributes state aid to the county school systems.

Tax Figures Are Released

CHARLESTON (AP) — The final 1959 valuations for tax purposes of the Class III and IV properties of 382 public utility companies operating in West Virginia add up to $809,397,000.

That is an increase of $6,782,000 over the Class III and IV assessed valuations on which the utilities paid property taxes last year.

The final valuations for this year were whittled down by the Board of Public Works from tentative valuations totaling $824,402,000 which were drawn up by the Tax Department.

The tabulation of the total was made public Tuesday. The board set the final figures at meetings June 15-16 after having held three days of hearings the previous month on the tentative valuations.

Classes III and IV include the utilities' real estate and personal property, except for personal property which falls in Class I. Notes and other evidences of indebtedness make up Class I. This class ordinarily is not in dispute and the board accepts the utilities' own figures as to valuation.

The utilities' Class I total for this year is $42,986,000, down from $56,090,000 in 1958. The drop is accounted for largely by exemption of money and bank deposits from the property tax under a constitutional amendment ratified last November.

Rebel Units Fight Way Into Algerian Port City

ALGIERS (AP)—A strong rebel unit smashed into the outskirts of the east Algerian port city of Bone today in a pitched battle with thousands of French soldiers. It was the first rebel military assault on a major Algerian city.

The rebel attack began at 4 a. m. The rebels took positions in orchards and homes between the Bone airport and the Mediterranean. Shortly after, the blast of grenades and machinegun fire awakened the city of 80,000.

Carroll Man Is Inducted As New Presbyter

George Jenkins of Carrollton, recently appointed by the Synod of Ohio as general presbyter, was installed at a meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church at Amsterdam.

Jenkins will now assume his duties as overseer and chairman of the 64 churches of the Steubenville Presbytery and the camp and conference program.

Dr. Alexander K. Davison of the First United Presbyterian Church, moderator, presided.

George Martin of Steubenville, past moderator of the Synod, was in charge of the installation. The charge to the new presbyter was given by Dr. Harry Roach of Columbus, Synod executive.

The Presbytery approved a call to the Presbytery of Maumee for the Rev. C. Sheldon Haysting at the Starkdale U. P. Church near Steubenville.

The pastoral relationship was dissolved between the Presbyterian Church at Mingo Junction and Dr. Andrew P. Slabey, who was dismissed to the Presbytery of Muskingum, where he will serve a church.

Delegates to the 171st General Assembly and the Synod gave their reports. A discussion and clarification of by-laws of the Presbytery will be continued at the next meeting Sept. 22 at the Third church in Steubenville.

Rocket Test Delayed

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An attempt to launch the Discoverer IV satellite rocket was postponed Tuesday because of technical problems in range communications. There was no indication when the shot will be re-scheduled, but past delays have invariably been for at least 48 hours.

Court Upholds West Virginia In '5% Order'

CHARLESTON (AP) — An order requiring state agencies to cut spending from their general revenue appropriations was legal, even as applied to school aid.

So said the West Virginia Supreme Court Tuesday in a unanimous decision. The case grew out of the "5 per-cent order" issued by the Board of Public Works last December.

Judge Frank C. Haymond wrote the court opinion. He said that the executive branch of government "is powerless to affect any change whatsoever" in an appropriation made by the legislature.

But, Judge Haymond said, the section of law under which the board acted does not amount to an authorization for the executive branch to alter appropriations. The section's proper meaning and effect is simply to limit spending from an appropriation to the revenue available for that purpose.

State revenue was in a slump when the board acted last December. It looked as if income to the general revenue fund this fiscal year might fall short of the amount appropriated from the fund by the legislature.

The board, therefore, ordered state agencies to withhold from spending and set aside in reserve 5 per cent of their general revenue appropriations for fiscal 1958-59.

Revenues since than have made a comeback and the board has modified its order three times. The amount now required to be withheld is only .01 per cent. The board required this token reserve only to preserve an issue for the court case.

The school boards of four counties—Wood, McDowell, Wyoming and Hardy—initiated the suit in Kanawha County Circuit Court against the Board of Public Works and the Board of School Finance. The latter is the agency which distributes state aid to the county school systems.

Tax Figures Are Released

CHARLESTON (AP) — The final 1959 valuations for tax purposes of the Class III and IV properties of 382 public utility companies operating in West Virginia add up to $809,397,000.

That is an increase of $6,782,000 over the Class III and IV assessed valuations on which the utilities paid property taxes last year.

The final valuations for this year were whittled down by the Board of Public Works from tentative valuations totaling $824,402,000 which were drawn up by the Tax Department.

The tabulation of the total was made public Tuesday. The board set the final figures at meetings June 15-16 after having held three days of hearings the previous month on the tentative valuations.

Classes III and IV include the utilities' real estate and personal property, except for personal property which falls in Class I. Notes and other evidences of indebtedness make up Class I. This class ordinarily is not in dispute and the board accepts the utilities' own figures as to valuation.

The utilities' Class I total for this year is $42,986,000, down from $56,090,000 in 1958. The drop is accounted for largely by exemption of money and bank deposits from the property tax under a constitutional amendment ratified last November.

Rebel Units Fight Way Into Algerian Port City

ALGIERS (AP)—A strong rebel unit smashed into the outskirts of the east Algerian port city of Bone today in a pitched battle with thousands of French soldiers. It was the first rebel military assault on a major Algerian city.

The rebel attack began at 4 a. m. The rebels took positions in orchards and homes between the Bone airport and the Mediterranean. Shortly after, the blast of grenades and machinegun fire awakened the city of 80,000.

Carroll Man Is Inducted As New Presbyter

George Jenkins of Carrollton, recently appointed by the Synod of Ohio as general presbyter, was installed at a meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church at Amsterdam.

Jenkins will now assume his duties as overseer and chairman of the 64 churches of the Steubenville Presbytery and the camp and conference program.

Dr. Alexander K. Davison of the First United Presbyterian Church, moderator, presided.

George Martin of Steubenville, past moderator of the Synod, was in charge of the installation. The charge to the new presbyter was given by Dr. Harry Roach of Columbus, Synod executive.

The Presbytery approved a call to the Presbytery of Maumee for the Rev. C. Sheldon Haysting at the Starkdale U. P. Church near Steubenville.

The pastoral relationship was dissolved between the Presbyterian Church at Mingo Junction and Dr. Andrew P. Slabey, who was dismissed to the Presbytery of Muskingum, where he will serve a church.

Delegates to the 171st General Assembly and the Synod gave their reports. A discussion and clarification of by-laws of the Presbytery will be continued at the next meeting Sept. 22 at the Third church in Steubenville.

Johnson Offer Discounted By GOP Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican leadership discounted today the value of an offer by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson to cooperate with President Eisenhower on a legislative program.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he doubts whether, in most cases, Eisenhower will be willing to accept Johnson's definition of what is good legislation.

"The President always cooperates in what he regards as being in the interest and well being of the whole country," Dirksen said.

The Republican leader added that he doesn't believe Johnson's present efforts will produce sufficiently trimmed spending measures to meet with Eisenhower's approval.

Johnson has been engaged in trying to prune such bills to make them as nearly veto-proof as possible, despite the contention of some of his party's self-styled liberals that he is robbing them of issues for the 1960 campaign.

Some of them have been calling for strong Democratic bills on various development programs even if the measures are nullified by presidentiial veto. Such action, they say, would create clear-cut issues for the 1960 campaign.

But Johnson told the Senate Tuesday that the Democrats weren't elected to Congress "to paralyze government." He said he was more interested in avoiding vetoes and getting legislation enacted than he was in creating political issues.

Solicitor Files Affidavit For Traffic Case

Assistant Solicitor Richard J. Clark was both prosecutor and complaining witness in a reckless driving case today in Municipal Court, but the youthful defendant pleaded guilty and the solicitor was not required to figure out how to occupy the witness chair and the prosecutor's role at the same time.

The defendant was Paul E. Richman, 158 Laurel Ln., accused of driving recklessly and at excessive speed on Chester Ave. and Minerva St. The solicitor said he observed the series of violations as Richman sped past his home at 753 Minerva St. while he sat on the front porch.

His affidavit accused Richman of driving downgrade on Chester Ave. at about 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, failing to slow or stop for a stop sign at Chester Ave. and Minerva St., rounding the curve on two wheels and then continuing down the steep, rough Minerva St. grade at speed in excess of 45.

Clark said he was prompted to file the charge because the neighborhood youngsters generally play at the intersection of Chester Ave. and Minerva St. Their lives would have been endangered had they been on the street when Richman passed last night about 8:30, he said.

After the charge was read, Richman told Judge George L. Brokaw he was exceeding the speed limit, but did not believe he was driving 45.

"That really makes no difference — there are at least a half a dozen violations set forth in this affidavit," the judge replied. He decreed a fine of $25 and costs.

"I'm going to have to begin suspending licenses if you kids don't know how to control your driving," he added.

Give Child Help In Learning To Dress

You and I agree that the earlier a child dresses himself the better. But it is not always a simple matter to get the youngster to be self-reliant in dressing and the like. You may have a tot as old as 4, 5 or 6 who dawdles over dressing himself, or refuses at times to do so at all, or even fails to cooperate when you try to help him dress. And if this child had dressed himself almost entirely several months earlier, you may grow vexed at him—the more so if a younger brother or sister does far better at self-dressing. Indeed, any reversion by your child to more dependence on you in dressing, bathing, toileting and the like is pretty sure to irritate you. "If he could do it himself before, why can't he now?" you ask yourself.

By Garry Meyers

IF HIS dependence on you should spread from one area of activity to another, your vexation at him will increase. Yet you might expect this transfer, for as you grow more impatient with him concerning dressing and tend to hurry and force him more, he will tend to grow more resistant to you about anything you expect him to do for himself.

Your big problem is to try to win his co-operation and to do just enough for him to get him going at more self-help but not too much, lest it take away his self-reliance.

Therefore, you just won't let yourself get vexed at him, if at all possible. You certainly won't whine at him and call him a "big baby." The assistance you give him will be given cheerfully, with the hope that this help will cause him to want to help himself more and to feel happy over his successes.

FOR YOU to help him a bit and then be to busy to do more right away, without your showing any irritation at him, could, if you are skillful enough, work almost like magic.

Your genius and talents lie in choosing just when and how much to help him. You might stimulate him to hurry at self-help by setting time limits and celebrating his successes when he meets them.

If your child at 4, 5 or 6 dawdles over dressing, while a younger brother or sister dresses himself quickly, you need to strive especially hard at mastering yourself and giving just the help necessary for winning his co-operation and self-help.

In general, you probably need to be more ready to help your child at dressing and the like when such help will aid him in getting over a few hard hurdles and going hopefully at more self-help and self-reliance.

Freights Ram Near Bellaire

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP) — Two unscheduled Pennsylvania Railroad freight trains collided head-on on a branch line at nearby Dilles Bottom late Tuesday. Five crew members were injured, none believed seriously.

The two diesel units pulling one train, a single unit pulling the other, a caboose and four boxcars were derailed.

One car and the caboose were smashed. About 300 feet of track was torn up. There was no estimate of the damage.

A railroad spokesman said each train was making about 15 miles an hour at the time of the collision. One was headed for Martins Ferry, the other Powhatan. The cause of the crash was not determined. The combined trains had 70 cars.

If You're In Good Health, Don't Ask For Work Here

ALBERTSON, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Viscardi Jr. is unlike any other boss. He won't hire a healthy worker.

Within the walls of his factory on Long Island the legless, the armless and the blind produce more than two million dollars worth of electronic equipment a year, Viscardi said in an interview.

An armless, legless man is a foreman in the packaging department. Another supervisor works flat on his back from a litter. His back and legs are fused as a result of spinal injuries.

Viscardi has known of afflictions since birth. He was born with two short stumps where legs should have been.

In 1947, aged 35, Viscardi quit his job as director of personnel for a large textile firm to devote his time to a new idea in rehabilitation.

Today, 421 employes labor in a brand-new plant, soon to be accompanied by a new gymnasium, swimming pool and facilities for music socieities, adult education, a camera club and arts and crafts.

Viscardi is married and has four daughters, the oldest 11 and the youngest 3.

His cheerful outlook becomes even sunnier when he discusses the plant's safety record. There have been two reportable injuries in six years, a far safer situation than the national average, he says.

Recently Abilities, Inc., began hiring persons discharged from mental institutions. Already employed were paraplegics, epileptics, cardiacs, amputees, the blind, deaf mutes and victims of cerebral palsy, rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis, polio and cancer.

Seriously disabled, from floor-sweeper up to the boss, the men and women at Abilities, Inc., work for wages comparable to other firms of its size and get their jobs done on schedule—without rejects, Viscardi says.

Johnson Offer Discounted By GOP Leaders

Bandit Gets Free Tip Along With $67 Loot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Every time I do this I get sick inside," a young bandit explained to Irene Solomon. He and a companion robbed her of $67 in her home Tuesday.

"I have to do it to dress well," insisted the bandit, who wore a brown pork pie hat, an Ivy League dark gray suit, an olive green sports shirt, a yellow sweater and argyle sox.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Helps Beautify Bosom

Ida Jean Kain

Exercise should always parallel either a reduction or a gain in weight. The two most important muscles which support the bust are the pectoralis major and the pectoralis minor. These powerful fan-shaped muscles spread across the chest and lie under the breasts. If these muscles are weak and inelastic, they permit the breasts to droop. The sagging bust is almost always due to lack of muscle tone and the oversize bust to excess fat.

While the breasts are composed of glands, not muscles, the position and contour is dependent upon the supporting muscles and therein lies the value of specific exercise.

THE EXERCISES should be taken for ten minutes daily, preferably for two five minute periods. If the bust is pendulous, wear an uplift bra while exercises, but do not have the straps over shoulders.

It often takes several months before improvement is noticeable, perhaps as many as six months. Nonetheless, exercise definitely will improve the appearance of the chest, the bust, and help to correct posture faults.

Movement: With a jerking action, "jerk" hands toward elbows, but do not allow hands to slide. You can feel the sudden action on the pectoral muscles.

Movement: With a quick criss-cross movement, change position of hands, under-over, over-under, etc. Important — place strong emphasis on the in swing, thus increasing the action toward the middle line. Test the effect: Place one hand on chest near shoulder as you emphasize the in-swing movement.

POSITION: On hands and knees, have fingers pointing toward each other. Elbows straight, back flat and head in straight line.

Movement: Resisting with arms, slowly bend elbows and lower the body to the floor until chest almost touches the floor. Then slowly push back up against resistance. Repeat three times. Rest. Later continue 3 or 4 more counts. You will feel this exercise. Do not allow back to sag.

'Dixie' To Fill Air At Mount Vernon

Mount Vernon is celebrating, Thursday through Saturday, the 100th anniversary of the writing of "Dixie" by one of its favorite sons. It's all part of the forthcoming national centennial celebration of the Civil War.

Daniel Decatur Emmett was born here in 1815 and died here in 1904. One of the creators of American minstrels, he wrote "Dixie" as a "walk-around" for Bryant's Minstrels. It was played as the music for a march finale and caught the fancy of a New Orleans audience.

A fife and drum corps will play "Dixie" and other groups will parade Saturday afternoon as a climax to "Dixie Days" in Mount Vernon, June 25-27.

There will be a Dixie Days queen, a speech by Rep. Robert W. Levering, 17th Ohio district Democrat, and the singing of other Emmett favorites such as as "Blue-Tailed Fly", "Old Dan Tucker", and "Turkey In the Straw."

Professor And Judge Don't Figure The Same

Wunch, 34, an associate professor in math and physics at Arizona State University, recently was fined $15 for driving 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

He appealed to Superior Court. Acting as his own counsel, Wunch used a time-distance formula to show why he couldn't have been doing 80. The jury disagreed.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Helps Beautify Bosom

Ida Jean Kain

Exercise should always parallel either a reduction or a gain in weight. The two most important muscles which support the bust are the pectoralis major and the pectoralis minor. These powerful fan-shaped muscles spread across the chest and lie under the breasts. If these muscles are weak and inelastic, they permit the breasts to droop. The sagging bust is almost always due to lack of muscle tone and the oversize bust to excess fat.

While the breasts are composed of glands, not muscles, the position and contour is dependent upon the supporting muscles and therein lies the value of specific exercise.

THE EXERCISES should be taken for ten minutes daily, preferably for two five minute periods. If the bust is pendulous, wear an uplift bra while exercises, but do not have the straps over shoulders.

It often takes several months before improvement is noticeable, perhaps as many as six months. Nonetheless, exercise definitely will improve the appearance of the chest, the bust, and help to correct posture faults.

Movement: With a jerking action, "jerk" hands toward elbows, but do not allow hands to slide. You can feel the sudden action on the pectoral muscles.

Movement: With a quick criss-cross movement, change position of hands, under-over, over-under, etc. Important — place strong emphasis on the in swing, thus increasing the action toward the middle line. Test the effect: Place one hand on chest near shoulder as you emphasize the in-swing movement.

POSITION: On hands and knees, have fingers pointing toward each other. Elbows straight, back flat and head in straight line.

Movement: Resisting with arms, slowly bend elbows and lower the body to the floor until chest almost touches the floor. Then slowly push back up against resistance. Repeat three times. Rest. Later continue 3 or 4 more counts. You will feel this exercise. Do not allow back to sag.

'Dixie' To Fill Air At Mount Vernon

Mount Vernon is celebrating, Thursday through Saturday, the 100th anniversary of the writing of "Dixie" by one of its favorite sons. It's all part of the forthcoming national centennial celebration of the Civil War.

Daniel Decatur Emmett was born here in 1815 and died here in 1904. One of the creators of American minstrels, he wrote "Dixie" as a "walk-around" for Bryant's Minstrels. It was played as the music for a march finale and caught the fancy of a New Orleans audience.

A fife and drum corps will play "Dixie" and other groups will parade Saturday afternoon as a climax to "Dixie Days" in Mount Vernon, June 25-27.

There will be a Dixie Days queen, a speech by Rep. Robert W. Levering, 17th Ohio district Democrat, and the singing of other Emmett favorites such as as "Blue-Tailed Fly", "Old Dan Tucker", and "Turkey In the Straw."

Professor And Judge Don't Figure The Same

Wunch, 34, an associate professor in math and physics at Arizona State University, recently was fined $15 for driving 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone.

He appealed to Superior Court. Acting as his own counsel, Wunch used a time-distance formula to show why he couldn't have been doing 80. The jury disagreed.

Fate Of Another Slayer Left In DiSalle's Hands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the second time in less than a week, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has the fate of a condemned murderer in his hands.

It is the second such decision he has had to make since taking office last January. And both cases involve men convicted of killing police officers.

DiSalle has already turned thumbs down on the clemency request of Walter J. Byomin. Unless the Ohio Supreme Court intervenes, the 43-year-old Clevelander will die tonight in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair for fatally shooting Deputy Edmund G. Smith of Wellington on May 4, 1957.

Now the governor has another life or death decision to make—this one concerning Robert Lee Lyons, convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of Cleveland Police Lt. Edward G. Lentz on Dec. 9, 1957.

The Pardon and Parole Commission held a clemency hearing for Lyons Tuesday and now must decide what recommendations to make to the governor.

Lyons had been scheduled for execution July 3. However the Ohio Supreme Court has given him an indefinite stay while the U.S. Supreme Court considers his appeal.

His lawyers contend that Lyons shot at a man from whom he and two companions had taken some money, but that the bullet accidentally struck Lentz who had arrived on the scene. Lyons' two companions, Dallas E. Milam and James Davis, were both given life sentences.

Q. How can I ascertain that dye is a fast color?

A. Dampen a small piece of the dyed cloth and then rub it on a piece of clean white paper. If it leaves no stain, the dye is fast.

Starkweather Scheduled To Die Thursday

His execution will come shortly after midnight tonight—unless it is again stayed for more court action.

The fifth death date for the red-haired killer was set Tuesday by the State Supreme Court after formal notice that the U.S. Supreme Court had declined to review the case was received.

Guy Starkweather, father of Charles, said he would file in District Court in Lincoln today for a writ of coram nobia, alleging illegal detainment, and asking a stay of execution.

Charles has contended he was not properly represented in his trial by two court-appointed attorneys. He was angered at the trial because the attorneys entered a plea of insanity in his behalf.

He was convicted of killing Robert Jensen, Bennet, Neb., school boy. Jensen was one of 10 victims of Starkweather in Nebraska and Wyoming during a four-day rampage in January 1958. A month before Starkweather had killed a filling station attendant in a holdup.

Hearings Set For 3 Drivers At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Hearings are slated for two motorists involved in a collision at E. Main St. and Route 39 Monday night and for a third driver cited in a mishap north of here Monday.
